NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Dec. 13.—A little red-faced man with with a gray cap tipped jauntily on the side of his head, putters about a house on the outskirts of New Rochelle and says his say about married life.

The man is Eddie Foy, for 60 years a comic on our vaudeville stage, and one of our leading husbands. Eddie has pranced to the altar he fewer than four times.

But Eddie, though the years may weigh upon him, has not retired from either of his interesting occupations—creating laughs and being a husband. He still makes the vaudeville

LINDY STARTS FLIGHT TO MEXICO CITY

Good Weather Is Outlook For Lindy's Flight

Noted Flier Leaves Washington On Non-Stop Trip To Mexico City

EXPECTS TO MAKE TRIP IN 24 HOURS

Take-Off Occurs At Noon; Head Winds May Slow Up Flight

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who blazed the trans-Atlantic trail to Paris last May, took off from Bolling Field here at 12:29 o'clock today on a non-stop flight to Mexico City.

He plans to make it in something less than 24 hours, the exact time being dependent upon how much the speed of his "Spirit of St. Louis" is retarded by head winds.

The take-off was almost perfect, despite the soggy condition of the field, and the heavy load of gasoline carried. Prior to the getaway, "Lindy" and some of the army aviators stationed at the field had gone over it thoroughly and stuck small flags in the spots that were particularly wet. "The Spirit of St. Louis" carefully avoided these as it skimmed down the field.

The sky was overcast and murky, but there was a promise of good weather ahead.

Escort of Planes

Lindbergh was given an escort of six army planes on the getaway. Five of these were piloted by army friends, and in the sixth was Wm. P. McCracken, air secretary of the commerce department.

With the army planes snorting on the ground below him, Lindy circled the field once while his escort was getting into the air and then turned the nose of "we" into the haze of the southwest. In a few minutes he was completely out of sight in the murky air.

Only a small crowd gathered at Bolling Field to see the start of the international flight. It was com-

Postoffice Business Shows Big Increase Early In December

An increase of $1,254.63 or over 21 per cent in the receipts at the New Castle post office this year is reported for the first eight days of December, as compared with the same period in 1926 according to Edwin W. Crawford, postmaster at the local office.

Mr. Crawford says that last year during the first eight days of December there were total receipts of $5,787.09 as compared with $7,041.72 for the first eight days of this month.

The receipts at the post office is generally taken as an indication of the business of a community and according to this it would seem that business in New Castle has not fallen off as much as thought.

The Christmas rush has not yet started at the post office when this census was taken and even if it had it would still be a good barometer as it is a comparison with exactly the same period last year.

Mr. Crawford says that there has been a steadily increase in business throughout the year. Their sale of two cent stamps has greatly increased during the year.

Family Life Of Mrs. Whitlatch Shown To Jury

Brother Declares Woman Nagged Her Husband And Called Names

OFFICERS TESTIFY OF CRIME SCENE

Mrs. Whitlatch Manifests More Nervousness; Children In Courtroom

Lawrence county will ask for the life of Ina L. Whitlatch in expiation of the murder of her husband, William R. Whitlatch, on the evening of September 27, 1927. In the opening address of the commonwealth, made this morning to the jury in Lawrence county court by District Attorney J. Elder Bryan, he said that he would show that Ina L. Whitlatch murdered her husband and that after they had shown all the facts in the case they would ask for a verdict of guilty of murder.

Immediately following District Attorney Bryan's opening address the case went to the taking of testimony and John Whitlatch, brother of the deceased, was called. He testified that he lived next door to the home of his late brother and that at various times he had heard Ina L. Whitlatch, the wife call his brother foul names.

Nagged Him, He Says

"I seen her nagging him," said the witness. "She often swore at him and called him a ——. On one occasion I heard my brother say, 'For —— sake, shut up'."

Whitlatch testified that his brother worked as a hostler on the B. R. & P. railroad and that his turn was from nine at night to seven in the morning. He also testified Whitlatch had a son and two daughters by Ina L. Whitlatch, and that she had a son, James Atkinson, by a former marriage.

L. R. Kelly of East Washington street was called and testified that he lived a short distance from the Whitlatch home and that on the night of September 27 he had heard three shots and had rushed over to the home where the shooting had taken place. He found Whitlatch on the porch, holding his side, and asked him what had happened. "That —— shot me," he said Whitlatch replied. Kelly tore the shirt off the man, and by that time Dr. Hunt arrived to attend him.

John Grimes of County Line street testified that he had been sitting in the upstairs of his home when he heard three shots fired. He went down to the Whitlatch home and found Whitlatch on the porch suffering. He testified that he had heard Lillian, a daughter of the deceased man, say, "Daddy, what did you say to mother?"

Engineer Shows Plan

Albert Treser, a civil engineer, was called and showed a plan of the Whitlatch home he had drawn for the commonwealth. He was cross-examined at length as to various distances in the home.

Dr. C. B. Hunt, a physician, who resides near the Whitlatch home, said

Young Murderess Trembles In Cell; Is Near Collapse

Mrs. Velma West Loses Composure When First Degree Charge Is Read

SELF-DEFENSE IS BELIEVED PLEA

Term Attractive Blond Widow "Split-Mind" Murderess; Mother Comforts Daughter

(International News Service)

PAINSVILLE, Ohio, Dec. 13.—Tortured by the belief that she has already been sentenced to death in the electric chair, Velma West, the so-called "Split Mind" murderess of her wealthy husband, Edward West, trembled in her cell here today on the verge of a nervous collapse.

The pretty 21-year-old confessed slayer, through her attorneys, will stage her second attempt to be released on bond in Lake County common pleas court today when a habeas corpus action will be heard. Seth Paulin, prosecutor, predicts this move will be unsuccessful and that the self-imposed young widow must spend the holidays in jail.

First Degree Murder

Mrs. West, who admits beating her husband to death with a small hammer, lost her first battle for freedom on bond yesterday when she was given a preliminary hearing before Judge Marvin Helter, who held her to the grand jury on a charge of first degree murder.

Her attorneys had sought to have the charge reduced to second degree murder or manslaughter and have their fair client released on bond, pending trial. It is expected the trial date will be early in February.

Why the attractive blond widow has been called a woman with a "Split Mind" was demonstrated at the conclusion of the preliminary hearing. Up to the time Judge Helter announced his decision, Mrs. West was as calm as any one in the courtroom.

But the final words of the court stirred an outburst that quieted only when the defendant slumped from her chair in a faint.

Unspeakable Crime

"It was one of the most unspeakable crimes ever committed in Lake county," she heard Judge Helter comment at the close of the testimony.

"The defendant is bound over with-

Canton Still In Hands Of Rebels

(International News Service)

HONG KONK, Dec. 13.—The avowedly communistic peasants and laborers who ousted the government officials in Canton and took possession of the city were still in power today.

Great fires continued to burn in many parts of the city and there were sporadic outbursts of shooting as the rebels continued their looting.

And I've looked said she in the many shops, but nary a thing looked good, and I'd like to know what to get for him, I'd like a suggestion, I would. So I said to her, there are many things, you can send on Christmas Day, you can send him a shirt of effulgent hue, or a necktie flamboyant and gay. For I know he'd appreciate what you send, most anything that he gets, except this thing, don't send him cigars, or a carton of cigarettes. For any tobacco you'll pick will be wrong, let him buy his own smokes, I would say, for a woman's taste in tobacco is wrong, its sixty-three today.

Steamer Hits And Sinks Tug

Men Aboard Tug Are Rescued; Accident Off New England Coast

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Dec. 13.—The passenger steamship Robert E. Lee, Boston to New York, collided with and sank the tug Neponset off the southern New England coast, according to a wireless from the liner today.

The seven men aboard the tug were rescued by lifeboats from the Robert E. Lee, which reported that she was proceeding down Long Island Sound to New York City.

The brief message stated that the tug sank soon after the crash. The Neponset, commanded by Captain George H. Tibbetts of Boston, was owned by the Doane Tow Boat company of this city. She had called at Boston and New Bedford with barges and was enroute to New London, Connecticut, light at the time of the accident.

The message did not state the cause of the accident, but said that all aboard the tug were saved, with apparently no serious damage to the steamship which was proceeding to New York City. Apparently there was no disorder on the liner, although some excitement attended the lowering of the lifeboats that picked up the Neponset.

Knows Whereof He Speaks.

Foy has unburdened himself of his theory of marriage. And, in view of his long experience in that line, he bears listening to.

"Love," said Eddie, "not laughs, is the big thing in life.

"Husband and wife have to love each other with all of their being before marriage is really a success. Once there is love and faith between them, nothing else matters.

"I know. I have been married four times. Three times I have been made a widower. My wives and I got along splendidly. Why shouldn't we?

"I see where a girl in New Jersey—Miss Gladys Bacher—laid down the law to her sweetie and made him sign a decalogue before they became engaged. That was unnecessary. Treat any decent man square and you don't have to worry."

1—Thou shalt believe in me —even at 3 a. m.

2—Thou shalt always treat me as squarely as I treat thee.

3—Thou shalt be faithful. A faithless wife betrays only herself.

4—Thou shalt not be extravagant. Love isn't fed on bills.

5—Thou shalt not expect me to be a saint all the time.

6—Thou shalt not nag. It benefits only the neighbors.

7—Thou shalt take some pains in the preparation of my meals.

Miss Bacher later said the "rules were a joke".

"Marriage is like a good job. Nobody capable of holding either ever gives up voluntarily. When folks break up a marriage or retire from a job it's the same thing—they are not good enough for it.

C. L. Gadd of the construction company, in a statement to The News said "the four men were working on the second floor elevation of the building, some fourteen or fifteen feet above the first floor. They were engaged in hoisting a heavy beam to place, when the accident occurred.

"The accident was caused when the bar joist rolled to one side, throwing the Saxon Pole being used in hoisting the beam, to one side. This weakened the capacity of the bar joist and it gave away. This precipitated the men and beam to the first floor elevation and into the exvavation under it, which is but about two feet in depth at this point. Some of the planking went with them. They were fortunate in escaping injuries from the beam, bar joist, etc. Their injuries were mainly from the fall. Berger Files Suit Against Taft For Sum Of $500,000

Wealthy Exposition Promoter Indicted For Perjury, Files Damage Suit

Taft, who was responsible for his indictment by the Hamilton County grand jury on a charge of perjury. Berger was a star witness last week for Remus, who is on trial for the murder of his wife Imogene.

J. A. BOAK MAKES OPENING ADDRESS TO STATE GRANGERS

Grange at the opening of its fifty-fifth annual session here today.

"When the American people awaken to the fact that agriculture is the parent industry and that the prosperity of the country depends upon the prosperity of agriculture, and the farmer makes up his mind to work out his own salvation by joining the Grange and cooperating, we will get some farm relief," Boak told the Grangers.

Fraternity Only Remedy

Many a promising Grange has been rent asunder by jealousy he declared, adding that the only remedy for this situation is fraternity.

Although the state legislature does not meet until next year, Boak admonished the Grangers to keep alive their interest in a legislative program and to lend the Grange's legislative committee all assistance it may require.

Making direct reference to prospects of agricultural relief, the Grange Master said the farmers "may get some relief through legislation but the real source of relief is through organization and cooperation."

"Relief must come largely from our own efforts," he added.

Taxation System Assailed

Boak expressed dissatisfaction with the present system of taxation in Pennsylvania but said "an equalization of taxation cannot be made until the exemption of taxation is removed from manufacturing corporations." At present, he maintained, Pennsylvania tax laws are so written that the heavy burden rests upon him who is least able to pay.

Special emphasis was placed on law enforcement in the Grange Master's address.

"I believe law enforcement is the biggest question before the American people today," he asserted. "Disrespect for law has become apparent from all sections. We find serious disobedience everywhere, in the home, in the school, and in the state, disobedience to the law of God and man.

Law Enforcement

"Law enforcement should begin at home. When we speak of law enforcement we invariably think of the Eighteenth Amendment. We hear a great deal about its repeal. The Eighteenth Amendment is in the Constitution to say.

"America never goes backward. Wt must advance. While the Eighteenth Amendment will not be repealed, it is in danger of modification. It is a success, although it has never been tried. Whenever the American people make up their minds to enforce it, we may expect great results.

Boak then appealed to the Grangers to "defend the Constitution of the United States. "If we would put forth half the effort to promulgate the virtues of the Eighteenth Amendment that its enemies do to discredit it, we would not need to fear for its modification."

Mayor Speaks

Mayor Joseph C. Williams made the city's welcome to the Grange.

Other addresses will be made by Hon. Charles G. Jordan, Secretary of the State Department of Agriculture; Milton W. Shreve, Erie Congressman; Dana E. Jones, Erie, Secretary of the Erie Manufacturers Association, and Ned H. Goodell, Erie, Vice President of the Rural Mail Carriers' Association.

The feature of tomorrow's session, aside from the report of officers, will be an address by R. G. Bressler, Deputy Secretary of the State Department of Agriculture. Officers will be elected at 2 p. m., Thursday and installed the same evening.

Grange Plan Of Action

A slate carrying the following recommendations has been drawn up and was expected to be adopted by the Grange:

1. Urging vigorous enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act in Pennsylvania.
2. Reaffirming the Grange support of the direct primary system and its opposition to the convention system.
3. Demanding a system of taxation based upon ability to pay and on benefits derived.
4. Declaration in favor of an adequate reforstation program.
5. Favoring immediate operation of Muscle Shoals for the production of nitrogen for fertilizer purposes.
6. Increasing excise taxes and license fees for busses and trucks.
7. Urging immediate changes in the election laws to prevent undue expenditure of money at primaries and elections.
8. Urging the use of all possible measures to prevent the spread of the European Corn Borer.
9. Urging employment of agricultural research work more in the lines of marketing and distribution and less towards production.
10. Asking revision of medical college courses to encourage more physicians to practice in rural sections.
11. Pleading support to patriotic organizations which seek to outlaw war and promote peace.
12. Reaffirming opposition to issuing bonds to carry on public works.
13. Declaring for an intensive organization program for the Granges throughout the state in an effort to build the membership to 100,000 before the next state session.
14. Declaring for continuance of the tuberculosis eradication program.
15. Favoring any tendency toward centralization of government.

OKLAHOMA GOVERNOR IMPEACHED AT SESSION EARLY THIS MORNING

case of Gov. J. C. (Jack) Walton four years ago, was "wrongful and illegal suppression of the state legislature and preventing said body from functioning in its legal capacity at the state capitol."

Other charges were based on alleged "general incompetency."

The house adjourned at 7:30 o'clock to meet later at a place unannounced and preparations went worward for quick organization of a board of managers to present the impeachment charges to the senate which already has resolved into a high court of impeachment.

Meanwhile the state supreme court had not acted upon a temporary injunction granted Governor Johnson in district court yesterday against the members meeting at any place within the state to impeach any state official.

Senate Caucus.

The senate caucus at midnight provoked no interference from the seventy members of the national guard which was called yesterday to duty.

Ex-Governor J. C. Walton called upon Gov. Johnston last night and chided the executive. "Well, well, well," the former "iron man" confided to Gov. Johnston, "you've not got a chance. Hell, I called out three hundred guards to stop the legislature and they impeached me."

It was the concensus today that federal court intervention would be sought. The governor is known to wish it and today's program, it was freely predicted, may lay the proper foundation.

Whether troops would interfere with any sessions on private property was a question which house leaders declared they believed would lead to federal intervention, if such interference were attempted.

Speaker Hill would not divulge the next prospective meeting place. Meanwhile the city and state was surcharged with drama for in the case of Governor Walton four years ago many court and military angels occupied the attention of all the various factions, the legislature standing by until a later date, finally being called by Gov. Walton himself.

Word that Gov. Johnson had invoked the state militia when it was supposed he would wait for the courts to thresh out the situation electrified the feeling for and against Gov. Johnston throughout the state and many senators and politicians hurried to the capitol, overnight to take an active part.

out bail for the action of the grand jury on a charge of murder in the first degree," finished the court.

And that finished Velma's composure. It shattered her adamant calm. She shrieked and sobbed and finally, when her mother's comforting embrace sought her shoulder, slid to the floor.

"The poor child thought that the worst that would happen would be a reduction of the charge and her admittance to bail," explained her mother, Mrs. B. L. Van Woert, of Cleveland. When she heard the judge say she was held without bail on a charge of murder in the first degree she assumed she had been convicted and was being sentenced to the electric chair."

Self-Defense

At the hearing before Judge Helter, Attorney Francis Poulson argued that Velma exercised a right guaranteed to her by the Constitution of the United States, when she killed her husband.

"Velma West certainly was not the aggressor in the events that led to Edward West's death," he said. "He had struck her on previous occasions and was threatening to do it again. She did the thing the Constitution of the United States guarantees to her —the right of defending her person against violence.

"She was not required to measure to a nicety the degree of force to be used in repelling the attack on her.

"She is guilty of nothing, has a perfect case of self-defense, and we are certain of acquittal."

The possibility of basing the defense on an insanity plea appears to have faded out almost completely. Velma's lawyers claim to be satisfied with the self-defense angle.

Miss Emily Johnson of the Senior High School, announced Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln," on January 12, at the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

Dr. John Coleman of Geneva College, made his final address of this season, discussing democracy in its various forms. Democracy has for its chief end the betterment of "folks". Only those nations which are home owning ones have a strong economic structure. Denmark is the foremost agricultural country of the world and is a nation of home owners. They support no national army or navy. Moses' dream was to have every family own a little farm. The family was the unit in Israel, with us it is the individual.

Monday, January 9, Gifford Gordon of Sydney, Australia, will speak before the club on "Prohibition." This will be an open meeting and it is hoped the members will bring their friends to hear the message of this very magnetic and forceful speaker.

THE PRESIDENT CHOOSES A BATTLESHIP

THE plan of President Coolidge to travel from Key West, Florida, to Havana aboard the battleship Texas in his coming trip will make his arrival at the Pan-American Conference a spectacular and particularly impressive event.

The Texas is the flagship of the United States fleet and recently was completely modernized. It has been rather the fashion of late years to use the swift 7500-ton cruisers for official sea trips of high federal officers; and some, including Secretary Wilbur, have not hesitated to board destroyers when there was urgent need for a fast water voyage.

President Coolidge has had the Mayflower as his personal craft; but the journey to Havana is a ceremony of state of first importance, and it is fitting that it should be made in a manner worthy of the occasion.

Not since 1910, when President Taft used the battleship Tennessee for a trip to the Panama Canal and return, has a president of the United States used one of these for a voyage. President Roosevelt made several trips on battleships, but President Wilson used a transport for his trips to Europe, and President Harding used the transport Henderson for his Alaskan tour.

The Texas is now at Panama. Probably she will be escorted by a destroyer squadron and several cruisers of the scouting fleet on the Cuban voyage. It is the naval power of the United States which has assured protection and stability on the North and South American Continents and created a condition by which overseas aggression has become almost unthinkable. The Pan-American conference, therefore, will find the naval background of the president's visit not without significance.

WEATHER COWARDS

DWELLERS in the temperate zone talk enthusiastically of the benefits of climate variety. They are convinced that, compared with the people to the north and to the south of them, they live longer, get more out of life, accomplish more with less effort, have a higher civilization and are more progressive. And they give all the credit to the cycle of seasons.

They tell themselves this and they employ it effectively in their booster propaganda. Moreover, there is some foundation for the belief. But for every ten thousand adults that preach the doctrine of climatic temperance only one really practices it.

What happens with the first cold blast of winter? The adult population hibernates. Men and women who led active outdoor lives from early spring until late fall imprison themselves in tightly closed buildings, except when riding abroad in automobiles just as tightly closed. Tired business men, who in warm weather are to be found on the golf links, are to be found in cold weather lounging with overstuffed stomachs in overstuffed chairs in stuffy offices, clubs and homes. As for adults of the other sex their cold weather hibernation is not less absolute.

Adult America can learn a valuable lesson from young America. Youth strikes boldly out into the snow and cold and returns glowing with good health and charged with new energy. Adults, fearful of chills and frost-bite, spend indoors all the health and energy accumulated in the preceding three seasons of healthful outdoor life. Those bigger than weather are bigger and better for it.

AMERICAN SUPREMACY IN THE AIR

RECENT dispatches from Paris indicate that the exposure of Jean Callizo, the aviator, as a fraud has resulted in the award of the altitude record to Lieutenant C. C. Champion, U. S. N.

This record is more than two years old, having been made in July, 1925, when Champion reached an altitude of 11,727 meters. On July 4 last he nearly duplicated his feat in a seaplane, establishing a world record for that type of craft with an altitude of 11,581 meters.

The International Aeronautic Federation has now officially listed seventy-two records which reveal the United States and Germany as neck-and-neck contenders for supreme achievements. This nation's aviators hold twenty-one records, Germany has twenty, while France is third with sixteen. Italy and Switzerland hold five each. Czecho-slovakia, England and Sweden each hold one record.

There seems particular significance in the fact that the supremacy of the United States appears to be in its seaplanes, which have won fifteen records. Germany holds supremacy in land planes, with France second.

Consideration of these totals, however, is not likely to give one a clear view of aviation progress, for a number of records are in special classifications which some of the nations have not bothered to develop. The United States, for instance, has no entries in the classification of light airplanes, and planes of certain weight-carrying and fuel capacities which might prove highly important in European countries do not fit American requirements. "Lindbergh" would be a short answer to anyone who seeks to quote foreign air records as an evidence of American inferiority in aviation.

We have read of a man who was so anxious to be on time at his wedding that when his train was caught in the cold and snow of the Northwest he hired an airplane to get to where the wedding ceremony was to take place. And best of all is that the bride-to-be, very wealthy and a widow, financed the airplane ride. If we ever hear any further of this wedding, there will be some interesting tales told.

We have just read where it cost a lawyer in Fayette county $6,129 to lose an election for judge. That is almost a year's salary on the job. We have never had to pay a penny to get a job, and it strikes us as odd that it costs so much to get elected to office, and defeated, too.

Because her husband objected to her list of contemplated Christmas gifts, a woman killed herself. Most any kind of reason is given these days for divorce, murder and suicide. As for us, we're used to disappointments; we get them every day, but still we get a heap of living each year of life.

Of course a man shouldn't lie, but what should he say when asked for an opinion of his wife's new hat?

Because a man wouldn't carry coal, a woman is suing him for divorce. That is bad enough, but it might have been worse. She might have used him for a target.

400 Miles In California.
Oil, Fruit, Cattle.
Roads Above All.
And Proud People.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

HEARST RANCH, SAN SIMEON, Cal., Dec. 13.—This is written at the end of a motor trip from Hodge, Cal., on the Mojave desert, 400 miles, to this Hearst ranch, half way between Los Angeles and San Francisco, on the edge of the Pacific.

You take the highway along the Santa Fe from Hodge to Victorville, then strike across the desert and thru the mountain passes to Ventura via Palmdale.

The dirt road across the desert, skirting the edge of an air mail landing, east of the Cajon pass, would be called an excellent road in the east. Long before you reach Palmdale the road is paved, and then forward over the desert through the 20 miles of mountain passes to Ventura and along the edge of the Pacific, through Carpinteria, Santa Barbara, Santa Maria, San Luis Obispo and on to San Simeon, the roads are perfect.

No man knows what a state can do in road building until he has driven over a few thousand miles of California roads. New Jersey and other states have made a beginning—California showed the finished product.

Bring your car here, travel 10,000 miles and leave without a bump. Over the desert, the mountains and along the Pacific the Cadillac car ran the 400 miles quietly, in ten hours, as though it had been on a city boulevard.

That 400-mile trip give you all kinds of California country, products and climate. High cold winds from the Pacific sweeping over the southern Sierras and across the desert, bringing the temperature of mountain snows with them, summer climate in the orange groves across the mountains, in the valleys back of Ventura and here, halfway between northern and southern California, a midway temperature, roses and heliotrope growing out-of-doors, 2,000 feet above sea level in a climate like October in New York.

Coming through the mountains westward from the desert on perfectly paved roads, you pass hundreds of oil wells, on the hillsides, looking down, grimy and rich on the farmers in the valleys.

If, like Will Rogers, the multi-millionaire humorist, you happened to be the second largest holder of Tidewater Associated Oil, you would remember with interest that in Ventura county alone, that company has, in the ground waiting for higher prices, more than 100,000,000 barrels of oil. But all the oil that all the oil companies combined have in all the earth has not the real value that will come from the few top inches of this California soil.

Things out here are big. The Pacific, stretching away to China, is the biggest ocean, the road running from San Diego to Seattle is the big road enterprise and runs through the world's biggest empire.

Everybody here in California will prove to you that this western country's future is by far the biggest, only just starting, and the cities are destined to be the biggest in the world.

This Hearst cattle ranch, with more than 240,000 acres surrounding the big ranch house on the hill, is a good deal of a ranch. Hearst, it happens, has two others, each four times as big in acreage as this one, but none to compare with this in interest.

Cattlemen will like to hear that beef prices are now about as high as in war time. Sales on this coast for good stock ran $11.75 a hundred during the past week. Hearst's ranch superintendent, Mr. A. F. Parks, is holding his steers for a higher price.

Here the ranch specializes in pure bred Herefords that, with their white faces, cover many thousands of them, are butchered to pay for and support the pure bred stock. All told Hearst has about 100,000 head on his different ranches and now plans a big dairy on his "little" 6,000-acre farm, just outside Los Angeles.

Honest single taxers may weep to think how unearned increment will increase the value of that little city farm some day.

Take your car, your wife and the children and drive through this western country, or come by train, or through the Panama canal, and start your motor trip when you get here.

Motor camps are everywhere and good. Last night, on the edge of the Pacific, close to oil wells, pumping out in the ocean, an independent man from Brooklyn was camping with his family, wife, four children and the dog, not 10 feet from high tide line.

He had a tent attached to his little car—any man can afford a car like it. A stove chimney ran up out of the tent, the mother was cooking dinner, the family waiting for it. Dinner over, they all sleep in the tent and car. No hotel bills, no time table to watch, nothing to do, but do exactly as you please and go where you please, when you please.

That has been made possible by the automobile. Try it for yourself, study your country, take time to travel through it and see it. Buy a lot here and there as you go—near Pittsburgh, New Orleans, Portland, Me., Freehold, N. J., Stewart, Fla., or in the center of Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego or Seattle.

Get your leases, get them paid for, keep up your taxes—that means contributing to public schools, take care of your land and later, it will take care of you.

This is a fine earth, own a little of it. And whatever you do, see the earth, beginning with your own country.

Be able, when you go to heaven, to tell the angles from other countries about the United States and why it is the finest country between the two poles.

P. S.—Many other things to tell about the edge of this western ocean, but Hearn, the Western Union manager at San Luis Obispo, ticks over the wire, "tell the man writing that stuff to hurry, or we'll have him lifted." Telegraphers know what that means.

With all his wealth an' inventive genius an' world-wide reputation, I notice that Henry Ford still uses printer's ink.

I've often wondered how a feller with a single track mind side steps a new idea when he feels it bearin' down on him.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

THE FIGHT

There is something in human nature that just naturally takes to a contest, any kind of a contest.

I recently saw a movie in which two men raced beetles to see which one could go the fastest. Mark Twain's story of the Jumping Frog is well known.

This disposition sometimes leads us into the most absurd competitions.

Not only are there beauty contests, but there are coffee drinking competitions, flag pole sitters, and recently at the County Fair in Suffolk, Virginia, prizes were given for wives that could call their husbands in the most endearing tone.

Prizes are offered in schools and the best scholar or the most diligent student receives a reward. And there have been prize poems, prizes for the best orators and so on.

There continue to be aspirants for the glory that is to be reaped from flying across the Atlantic.

It is doubtful whether any really good work is done for the motive of getting a prize, although prizes continue to be offered for everything.

The best worker is one who is interested in his work and does the best he can. He does not desire to excel some one else, but is interested in excellency alone for its own sake.

We have never heard of Shakespeare, Dante, Goethe or Homer competing for a prize, and we have never read a prize poem that amounted to very much.

Even when the prize of great fame and glory comes to one who has done something remarkable, as in the case of Lindbergh, the hero does not seem to appreciate the prize so much as he is gratified at performing his feat well.

We cannot all excel in everything, as no two trees in the forest can be the highest. The principal thing is to do well that which lies within our power and to do it as well as it can be done.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NOT SO EASY.

It is easy for the people of the world to talk about Republics. It is very hard for the nations of the world to change in a moment from Monarchies to Democracies. The most important experiment in this line being made today is the attempt of Germany.

In nearly every instance the idea of making a change to a Republic is fostered by designing citizens of a nation. These ambitious men have no more idea of a Republic than has President Calles of Mexico. A Republic to them is only a Dictatorship. It is really amazing that Mussolini has not yet declared his Fascistist Republic in Italy. It is particularly strange because it should be remembered that Mussolini was in his youth a Socialist. Now he is very strong for the Second and Third Estates. He has little use for Socialism. The really fine thing about Mussolini is that he is frankly and determinedly a Dictator. The Soviet regime in Russia is no exception to the rule. There among the leaders it is dog eat dog and devil take the hinder-most. What will eventually happen, no one knows. Probably, a Dictatorship and then a return to a Monarchy. The people of Russia know nothing about government by Democracies, nor will they for many and many a long year.

Seniores Quezon and Osmeno think that the Philippines ought to be governed by the Filipinos,—that is what they tell our President, but what they say to themselves is that Seniores Quezon and Osmeno should govern the Philippines and the United States should pay the bill.

Self-government or a Democracy, as you will is something which developed through the freest and most self-reliant race in the world. The English started to achieve it centuries ago, bit by bit, from the time when the barons dictated Magna Charta to King John; from the days when the decapitated one Stuart Kind and banished another; from the conditions they made when they imported William of Orange and told him exactly how much he could do subject to the consent of Parliament. Freedom is something that cannot be handed to a people on a platter. It is a plant of small growth, demanding constant vigilance and something which fool politicians do their best to spoil Self-government to a people not ready for it, is a extension of Democracy, which always breeds tyrants. About nothing is so much cant talked by people who are pledged to the absurdity that all opinions are equal.

The Perfect Mental Golfer

The winter golfer sits and dreams
Of shots which hold the line,
Of splendid scores, of three's and four's,
And never an eight or nine.

Outside the course is deep with snow,
And cold the wind and keen,
But on goes he from tee to tee
Through fairways verdant green.

And peace is his and joy complete
As mental golf he plays,
For straight and far his long shots are
Throughout the winter days.

And sitting, dreaming, by his fire
His drives are straight and true,
Nor pit nor trap disturbs his nap,
And of putts he takes but two.

And there's never a hook and never a slice
And never a shot that's topped.
In a golfer's dreams, the ball it seems
At the cup is always dropped.

He never lifts for a penalty stroke
From brooks and the running streams,
Never loses a match as he plays from scratch
In his wonderful winter dreams.

So there at his fireside let him play
His mental game till spring.
Let him dream until he gets back on the tee
With the same old awkward swing.

LIVES FOR RECORDS

We are in the midst of a period of record-making and record-breaking. Somebody breaks a record every day. Any newspaper that thought it worth while could maintain a daily feature, "Today's New Record", gleaned from the news dispatches.

In this column I have spoken heretofore of the amusing antics of the publicity seekers who break the records for sitting on flag poles, playing pianos, eating pie, running upstairs, driving without sleep, calling cows, blowing bladders and doing all manner of other unimportant things.

These record-breakers are only reflecting the general public interest in stunting. A man who can do nothing particularly well conceives the notion that he can at least eat pie as profusely as anyone. He is thrilled by the record-making flight of Clarence Chamberlain. He hears of some lesser light who has ridden a horse for days and nights without rest. He says to himself, "I, too, shall achieve immortality. I shall eat more pie than anyone else in the town, in the country, in the world!" He does it, and he may live.

Captain Hawthorne C. Gray, a useful and energetic army man, in the prime of life, sets out to go higher in a balloon than anyone else ever has gone

Experiments already had proved that a rat is the only animal that can live at an altitude of 53,000 feet above the surface of the earth. Rabbits and guinea pigs become unconscious at about 47,000 feet, and die in a few minutes. Captain Gray had already gone up more than 42,000 feet, and had been obliged to jump for his life.

This time the brave captain reached an altitude of about 44,000 feet, but he died.

There may be something gained by the sacrifice of valuable lives for such records. It is hard for the ordinary, commonsense citizen to see it. What if someone next manages, with good oxygen and good luck, to reach an altitude of 60,000 feet? He will come back with a heart impaired for the rest of his life, even if he lives to tell the story. And what will he have contributed to the sum total of human knowledge or human welfare? Rather less, I should think, than the man who writes an agreeable poem of 12 lines.

I believe these men have a right to risk their lives in setting records of whatever nature, because they are the proper judges of the comparative values of their lives and the records they hope to make. But I think many brave men are exceedingly unwise in the exercise of their rights.

The Cream of the Tobacco Crop

You, too, will find that LUCKY STRIKES give the greatest pleasure—Mild and Mellow, the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. Made of the choicest tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"IT'S TOASTED"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

Allan Dwan,
Noted Motion Picture Director,
writes:

"The director of film plays must take even more care of his voice than the actor. Into his voice he must put every emotion that appears upon the faces of the film players. While directing 'The Joy Girl' I used my voice twelve hours daily for weeks—often having to shout directions in the open to ensembles at a great distance. And I always kept my package of 'Lucky Strikes' in my pocket for I have found they are the only cigarettes which I now really enjoy and which I can smoke without impairing my voice. I'm grateful to 'Luckies.'"

Economies of Operation

FOR fifty years Swift & Company has been handling perishable meat products. During that time an efficient money-saving system of marketing has been developed.

Science has been utilized to find new uses for many products that once were waste and better uses for old products. Multiplied uses have increased volume. Increased volume has resulted in decreased manufacturing and marketing expense. Experience, science and skill have reduced waste to a minimum.

Swift's marketing system means only one profit—and that is low. For the entire operation of converting live animals into Premium Ham and Bacon, Brookfield Sausage and other finished meat products and distributing them to the retailer, Swift & Company receives a profit from all sources averaging only a fraction of a cent per pound.

The National Distribution Conference in 1925 found the wholesale expenses of the packers' branch houses to be the lowest of the seventeen trades studied.

These economies of operation make possible full market value for live stock and lowest possible prices for meat. Swift & Company serves both producer and consumer efficiently and well.

Lowden Talks With Coolidge

Ex-Governor Is Visitor At White House Monday Afternon

NONCOMMITTAL ON HIS CANDIDACY

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. — Frank O. Lowden, one of the grain belt's favorite candidates for the presidency, spent half an hour with President Coolidge Monday afternoon.

It was the first time in many months that the ex-governor had been at the White House and apparently he and Mr. Coolidge found much to discuss. Although the nature of their conversation was not revealed, it is understood they talked about the agricultural situation—a topic upon which they are by no means in accord. Lowden, is a staunch supporter of the McNary-Haugen bill, which President Coolidge vetoed last session.

Gov. Lowden had little to say about his visit with Mr. Coolidge.

"I simply came to pay my respects," he told newspaperment, smilingly.

"Politics? The White House is not the place to discuss politics."

"Did you invite the President to settle down on a mid-western farm after his retirement?" one of the reporters asked.

"I couldn't in all conscience advise anybody to settle down on a farm now," was the reply. "If I had sold mine seven years ago, I would have been better off today."

Issue Of Campaign

The question of agricultural relief, Gov. Lowden said, would be one of the greatest issues in the 1928 campaign, perhaps the greatest.

The McNary-Haugen bill he considers the best legislative program that has yet appeared, despite Mr. Coolidge's scathing veto of the measure last session.

On some features of the administration's farm program, Lowden is in accord, the trouble he said, was that it doesn't go far enough.

Concerning his political future, the Illinoisan was reticent—except that he made it clear he has no intention of "withdrawing" from the race. He takes the position that he has never announced his candidacy, and that what efforts are being made in his behalf are the work of friends.

To the direct question concerning withdrawal, he replied:

"There is no possibility of a change in my status."

Monday came near being "Farm Relief Day" at the White House. Precluding Lowden into the President's office was Chester Gray, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who told Mr. Coolidge that the federation was again strongly backing the McNary-Haugen bill.

"There is no politics in our stand," said Gray. "It is purely an economic question and is being considered as such."

Gray pointed out to the President that the revised McNary-Haugen bill just introduced in congress meets nine out of the ten points Mr. Coolidge raised against it in his vigorous veto message.

The tenth point is the equalization fee, which the federation, Gov. Lowden and the sponsors of the bill consider "the very heart of it." It is that point which Mr. Coolidge so vigorously assailed in his rejection of the bill.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

MINUTES, MEASURES AND MUSCLES

"Well, how did you like it?" demanded Rattler. Peter shook his head.

"Not a bit," said he. "It made me feel creepy."

"I thought you wouldn't. I thought it would," hissed Rattler, replying to Peter's remarks in the same breath and sounding hopelessly mixed up. "If you shiver like that at watching only me, I don't know what you would have done if you could have seen that crowd of us twisting and coiling, out on that sun-baked ledge."

"I don't understand why you did not fall off!" exclaimed the Boy.

"No danger," answered Rattler. "Every Serpent made sure of his distance, you can be sure of that. His body is his measuring tape. He knew whether he was going to land on the ledge or over it before he leaped. You see, we haven't any feet to carry us into trouble. All we must think about are our bodies. When those are once accounted for we are all right. Why, we can have a lot of fun and exercise without moving from a spot."

"I'll say so!" cried Peter, as he watched Rattler going through the same performance again. "You are a bundle of muscles, aren't you?"

"Almost," agreed the Serpent, and added proudly, "And every muscle is as tough as tripe. My muscles get that way from using them every minute in the day. Well, Two-Legs, have I given you a pretty good idea of what a Snake Dance is?"

"You have," declared Peter, and shut his eyes. "I can see you and your neighbors just as plainly as though I had been on the top of the cliff that morning, peering down. And you are right, Rattler. I had much rather hear about it than see it with my own eyes."

"Right-o! And if you're so good at

Thaw Declares Girl's Charges Are Absurd

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13. — "Her charges are absurd. I never saw the girl. I don't know who she is. I never wrote her any letters, not a single one."

That was the answer of Harry K. Thaw, Pittsburgh millionaire, today when questioned about the $100,000 breach of promise suit filed here against him by Miss Forest Hope Wall of Culver City, a former film extra girl.

Miss Wall's complaint said she met a man representing himself as Thaw while she was "on location" with a film company at Laguna Beach, Cal. This was in May 1923, she asserted.

Thaw denied that he was in California at that time. He contented himself by saying "he was some other place."

Newspaper records indicate that he was in the Pennsylvania State Hospital at that time, except for brief visits to his mother.

The former extra girl's complaint set forth that the man alleging to be Thaw told her that she was too young to be working in pictures. She was 17 years old at the time, she declared.

The complaint said further that Thaw placed a marriage ring on her finger, telling her to wear it always. She is still wearing it and is still willing to marry him, she declared.

Miss Wall said that Thaw wrote to her in May 1926, asking her to come to his home for the ceremony. Her complaint said that she and her mother and a younger brother went east and made an unsuccessful attempt to see Thaw at his country home near Stephenson, Va., the girl said that Thaw had given her about $500 at different times.

Thaw arrived here about a week ago, to transact motion picture business, he explained. He was accompanied by two young women, Anita Rivers, of New York, and Susana Hughes, of Lexington, Ky., both of whom have film ambitions.

Successful Opera In English To Be Heard Here Wednesday

The record made by "The King's Henchman", Deems Taylor's American opera, at its premiere and subsequent performances at the Metropolitan Opera House last season, is reflected in the sold-out theatres now presenting the opera on its first tour. With the early bookings, among which are Washington, Baltimore, Boston and Springfield, this city is scheduled among the first presentations outside of New York and Philadelphia and will hear the noted work at the Scottish Rite cathedral Wednesday, December 14.

The success of the venture as evidenced by its reception in the eastern cities is also disproving a belief held by many managers who earlier turned down the opportunity of presenting "The King's Henchman" on the ground that its Americanism would alienate the foreign element depended upon to attend the performances.

A triple cast recruited largely from the Metropolitan Opera company, Royal Opera and Covent Garden, include Marie Sundelius, Rafaelo Diaz, Henri Scott, Frances Peralta, Arthur Hackett, Dudley Marwick, Thomas George, John Roberts, Giovanni Martino, Alfredo Valenti, Ora Hyde, Constance Hejda and Burton Leslie present the leading roles.

Deems Taylor's music could never be given by musicians of the second rate order. It is far too difficult. It makes great demands on a singer's musicianship and what with the exigencies of travelling it is gratifying to note what precaution was exercised in the selection of the several cast as well as in the size and quality of the symphony orchestra, in itself a dominant feature.

With both score and libretto written by Americans, Edna St. Vincent Millay, American poetess providing the book, and all the leading parts taken by Americans, even those of foreign name being American born, "The King's Henchman" is literally an all-American production. Apart from interest in the opera itself the engagement is notable in music annals because of the distinguished company chosen to present the great American work.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Speaking of closely averted smash ups, Pa Newc saw several yesterday afternoon while he was standing on the South Mill street bridge. Autoists who did not know the dangers of the crossing, ran blithely onto it, and then tried to straighten out their madly careening cars. Others, who were in the know, approached the bridge cautiously, and made a safe crossing. Something should be done to the surface of that bridge so that it would not be so slippery on a wet day.

Christmas and Santa Claus are both coming to the Almira home for aged women. Although no definite plans have been made as yet, the matron is firm in her declaration that something surely will be done. She believes that this year's celebration will be much like last year's.

Passing the toy stores is where one can pick up "color" stories this season. Pa Newc happened to be strolling past one of the department stores of the town, and glued to the window was a little girl with her mother frantically tugging at her arm, trying to get her to come home. The little girl was firm, though. No, she would not leave, until she had seen the hippo shimmy at least once more. Finally the mother gave in. And so there they stood, watching the hippo shimmy and shimmy and shimmy.

Even at the Library they have prepared for the Christmas season. Books pertaining to St. Nicholas have been placed on separate shelves, where they are easily accessible to children, parents and teachers. And the books contain plays, stories, pantomimes, and mimes, all relating to Christmas.

Well, soon the college boys and girls will be with us again. In a few days Westminster starts her vacation, and students from most of the schools in the state and quite a few out of the state will begin to send the young ideas back home, to get loaded on turkey and work off some surplus energy. They need it. As Pa Newc ruefully remembers, it is quite a long grind from Christmas to Easter, and there are very few let ups.

Commenting on the fact that four women are now members of Congress and that woman is in every way coming into her own, Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church declared during a recent address that he would not be surprised that within the next quarter of a century the president's chair in the United States would be occupied by a woman.

Women are serving as jurors for the first time in a murder case in the Lawrence County court in which a woman is the defendant. Three women are on the jury in the Mrs. Whitlatch case now in progress in the county court.

Announcement that Billy Sunday is coming back to New Castle for two addresses on December 21, aroused memories in the minds of many of the long time residents of New Castle. It was back in the fall of 1910 when Billy Sunday conducted his tabernacle revival meetings here for six or seven weeks. The tabernacle, which would seat about 7,500 persons, and had a choir loft for five or six hundred, was located about two blocks from the Harmony station, back in the vicinity of White and Neal streets. Thousands attended the Sunday meetings nightly during the entire series. The Sunday revival campaign was the immediate forerunner of the move that made Lawrence County dry long before the rest of the state and nation went dry.

AGE FORTY—DANGER

Most people are dead at 60 because their vital forces begin to wane around age of 40. Elderly people fall easy victims to colds which often develop into pneumonia.

Enrich and fortify your blood. Stimulate your resistance. Remember that for a few cents you can get Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea from your druggist. Take it hot to break up your cold. Wise mothers and fathers make it their winter health guardian.

THE NEWS, ONE YEAR, BY MAIL, $5.00

Redeem $78,000 In Bonds; Other Mercer County News

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Dec. 13.—During the year of 1927 the sum of $78,000 was spent by County Treasurer Malcolm Simons in the redeeming of the county bond issues.

The sum is $13,000 less than that spent for this purpose in 1926, and due to the fact that bonds bought in advance of their maturity date in 1926, were not available this year.

Divided, the sum shows that $16,000 of the total was spent in redeeming the funding bond issue of the country; the sum of $1,000 was that spent in redeeming courthouse bonds; the sums of $27,000, $21,000 and $11,000 were spent in redeeming road bond issues.

The road bond issues fell due in July and August, reports Treasurer Malcolm Simons; the funding bond issue was due in September and the courthouse bond in June.

The courthouse bond issue of $350,000 is closed by the purchase this year of the remaining $1,000 bond.

Judge J. A. McLaughry has been petitioned by the Shenango Valley Grocery Company of Sharon to dissolve that corporation.

The dissolution is asked on petition of the vice president of the company, Meyer Frank, of Farrell.

At a meeting of the directors held on the date of June 15, 1927, action was taken, the petition sets forth, toward this dissolution.

Judge J. A. McLaughry set the return day of January 1, 1928, as that on which answer or objection can be made to this dissolution.

It is set forth in the petition that all the bills of the company have been paid.

The county commissioners and their attorney say they have reached a business climax with some of the county tax collectors where "patience ceases to be a virtue".

Action is being taken against some of the collectors who are the furthest back in their accounts through bondsmen. It is said by the county solicitor, J. W. Nelson, that the bondsmen are liable under the law for the tax that the collector has failed to gather.

In many instances, says Mr. Nelson, the tax is in communities of a prosperous nature where there is no excuse for the condition.

As this action is drastic and will result in activity on the part of the bonding company of the most unpleasant nature, it is the belief of the county officials that it will only be necessary to start the proceedings to get the money. The county has on its books the sum of $44,000 in delinquent county tax.

During the three months of the summer, June, July and August, a total of 9,000 children, from babes in arms to six years of age, were examined by the physicians of the State Department of Health who were attached to the health car of the department that toured the state.

The record is a wonderful one in conservation of manhood and womanhood in the state. Physical deficiencies of the children were pointed out to mothers, who were advised to have them corrected by the family physician.

Checking up on these corrections is Miss Viola Moore of the department, now in Mercer county, who tells of the remarkable work done by this car.

The car was in Mercer county two days at Jamestown and Hadley.

Over 100 Mercer county "kiddies" were benefited.

Dear Santa Claus:—
Well, Santa, it is time to write to you again, and I don't want to be late in getting my order in.

I don't think I want much. I am a good girl, but my mother tells me that you have a lot of little girls and boys to take things to, and that I must not want too much. This is what I want: A sucker, a doll that sleeps and says mamma, a nice buggy, an electric iron and ironing board, a set of dishes and a baby bed. Now Santa, don't forget us little people and be good to the little girls and boys that have no papas and mamas. I almost forgot, I want a Christmas tree with electric lights, some candy and nuts.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared.

If you combined the valuable properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real healing power as there is in this home-made syrup, easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or clarified honey, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and it is splendid for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Few Calls As Yet For Gold Coins For Christmas Presents

No, it seems that not much gold money will be given this year as Christmas presents, the cashier of one of the local banks says that he has had no call as yet for the old fashioned "yellow money."

People wait, he says, until the last minute, and then, after racking their brains trying to hunt out some unique present for little Jimmie or little Jemina, they rush to the bank and demand five dollars in the coin of the realm, which they tuck in an envelope, hoping that the child will be satisfied. Usually, the tale goes on, he is.

Some day another Gibbon will write the "Decline and Fall of Gold Currency as Christmas Presents." For it is not being done in this day and age. Now people, when they want to give money, much prefer steel engraved government notes. And, if they do give gold, the day after Christmas witnesses a run on the bank of people who have received it. They want to get the yellow money changed into bills so that it will not be lost or mistaken for a penny.

Five dollar, ten dollar and twenty dollar gold pieces are the most popular sizes. Two dollar and a half pieces are almost extenct: the banks have a hard time getting them to give out.

There was one man who lived in town a few years ago, the bank cashier says, who gave money for all his Christmas presents. A few days before, he would come to the bank and get about 20 five dollar bills, put them in special Christmas envelopes, and send them to his relatives and friends. And one or two he would give to the bank clerks who had served him during the year.

TALKING TOO MUCH

Sit down at the luncheon table in club or elsewhere and you are pretty sure to find one man who does most of the talking. He runs the conversation and everybody listens or seems to listen. Find out about this man and you will probably discover that he is not the one at that table who has the most influence. Very likely he has the least. His tongue is hung loosely. The rest listen because it kills time while they are waiting for the soup.

FORESIGHT

The truly wise man is he who, in the heat of passion, in a political campaign or in any kind of a contest, has the self control to keep from saying the thing that after he has cooled off he will be ashamed of. To be able to do that requires foresight of the highest order.

THE REAL TEST

The real test of a man is not how he acts in deliberation—after he has had a chance to think things over. The test is how he behaves on impulse—when confronted by the sudden necessity for a decision.

THE WORST INTOLERANCE

There is more than one form of intolarence. The kind of intolerance which you feel when you find somebody in disagreement with you is common enough, and it is not the most serious variety. The saddest intolerance in the world is the black kind that is shown by the man or woman who is so thick-skulled and dull-witted that he won't even give the other fellow credit for having sincere convictions. To say: "Of course John doesn't really believe what he says. He just pretends to —" is to be guilty of the most hopeless form of intolerance.

THE SYBARITE

A citizen of Sybaris, an ancient city of southern Italy, once complained that he had not slept well the night before. He said that upon investigation he found that a roseleaf had been folded under him. It disturbed his rest. In war days when all Europe was in grief certain Americans complained because they couldn't get pie for dessert.

Nations must become morally and mentally weak as well as physically weak when we lose the capacity for hardship.

Reading Railway Employes Prevent Big Silk Robbery

Employes Of Reading Railway Battle With Thugs In Attempt To Rob Train

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 13.—Returning shots fired by bandits, employes of the Reading Railway today prevented a holdup of a fast freight train near Janney early today. A quantity of raw silk thrown from the train was saved. The train was enroute from Jersey City to Philadelphia.

First reports said the train had been robbed of $50,000 worth of silks. Reading officials denied this but admitted a number of bales had been thrown from one of the cars. Reading police are checking the shipment and so far have found nothing missing.

George Dancy, of Jersey City, the conductor, discovered the bandits when he was aroused by the long stop the train made at the junction. When he approached the car which the bandits had broken open they fired, one of the bullets making a hole through his hat. He returned the fire and the group fled as the New York to St. Louis express approached.

The crew of the express aided in a search for the bandits but no trace of them could be found.

Pulmotor Revives Willow Grove Man

For the second time within a year, Everett Pyle of Willow Grove, was revived through the use of the city pulmotor operated by members of the city police force, on Monday afternoon.

Suffering from a disease that necessitates the use of strong medicines to allieviate pain, there are occasions, when the medicines cause him to go into a coma condition, from which he might not recover, if the pulmotor was not used.

Monday afternoon, when the police were called he was again in this condition. His physician was in attendance and asked that the pulmotor be secured. Officers Hillers and Nelson and Policewoman Mrs. Minnie McKibben responded and worked on him with the pulmotor for more than an hour before he came to and was again himself. Two tanks of oxygen were used.

Court Allows Bond Of $10,000 While Lengel Awaits New Trial

(International News Service)

CANTON, O., Dec. 13.—Former police chief Saranus A. Lengel, awaiting a new trial on charges of complocity in the plot which resulted in the murder of Don R. Mellett, Canton publisher here more than a year ago, today was free on bond of $25,000.

In admitting Lengel to bail this morning, common Pleas Judge Edwin W. Diehl stated that the court was not granting Lengel special privilege, and that the admission to bond was not at the discretion of the court, but simply granting to the aged former chief what was his by constitutional right.

Lengel has served seven months in the Stark county jail and the State penitentiary.

Lewistown Man Suicide Victim

Railroad Worker Throws Self In Front Of Train And Is Badly Mangled

Kansas City Raises Mourning Flags Each Time a Motor Fatality Occurs

LARGE MOURNING FLAGS are hung for twenty-four hours after each motor car death that occurs in Kansas City by the local unit of the National Safety Council, which has recommended to the Board of Education the holding of a short memorial service in each school, just prior to dismissal, each day that a child is killed in an automobile accident. There are four flags which are displayed at prominent locations on heavily traveled streets.

HIGH GRIDDERS ARE FETED FOR GREAT SEASON

high school and nothing was left undone to give the boys the best possible in the way of victuals and entertainment.

The red and black football team this year was praised to the skies by every speaker, and was deserving of all the nice things said. The past season was most successful, but one game was lost and that to Youngstown South by a 7 to 6 score.

One could not help but contrast the banquet here last night with the former football dinners served at the senior high school, where the facilities for handling the crowds was mighty cramped. The Castleton management left nothing undone in the way of real service for the gridders, and the banquet went very smoothly. There was plenty of elbow room for everybody. It was a fitting banquet held in the magnificent new hostelry. The food was cooked to a turn and served in a first class manner.

The banqueteers had use of the lobby and drawing room prior to the serving of the dinner and a small reception was staged. This is another pleasing factor that has been made possible by the erection of The Castleton.

Orth as Toastmaster.

Frank L. Orth, principal of the senior high school, and a strong booster for athletics in the New Castle institution, was the toastmaster of the banquet and handled the job in a most satisfactory manner. In a short introductory talk Mr. Orth stated that it was his belief that the 1927 team was one of the best that the senior high school has had for the past few years, and he stressed particularly the interference and forward passing, two features of the team that were outstanding all year.

Dr. H. E. Zerner, team physician and a booster for high school athletics, was the first speaker on the program. Dr. Zerner in a short talk stated that he was mighty fond of football and that New Castle high had always given him real entertainment in this line. Dr. Zerner concluded his part of the program by showing films taken at the football games and at football camp, and they were thoroughly enjoyed by the boys.

Captain Charles "Tippy" Richards of the 1927 team bid farewell to his fellow-mates at the banquet last night with a most pleasing talk. Richards said that he realized that his scholastic days were over and that the banquet would be the final one tendered him as a member of the New Castle high football team, and that he had genuine regret for leaving the school. Richards thanked the boys for their cooperation and said that the team would not have gained such success this season but for the fact that the boys did as they were told, and that the spirit shown in all of the games was topnotch.

Orth in his introduction of Captain Richard paid the young man a high tribute as one of the best leaders that New Castle high has ever known.

Bridenbaugh Talks

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh was the next speaker on the program and after receiving a high compliment from Toastmaster Orth, delivered another of those famous "Bridenbaugh speeches", in which he left nothing to the imagination. Bridenbaugh said that in his honest opinion the 1927 team was the best balanced team that he has coached since coming to New Castle. "We had a team this year that was composed of 11 good football players. There was not one of them that stood out from the flock, and that is the real reason for the success attained." The popular coach followed Mr. Orth in his convictions regarding the interference and forward passing.

"At the start of the season we scheduled what we believed to be a hard program for the boys, with such teams as Dayton Steele, Donora, Mars, Peabody, Youngstown South, Erie East and Washington, but the schedule really proved weaker than we had expected, and it was due to the fact that the team came through better than we expected." Bridenbaugh paid various members of the team high compliments on their work and said that Richards was without doubt one of the best leaders that he has known since he took up coaching the high school teams. "We will miss Turk, Thomas and Richards next year," said "Bridy". He also paid the assistant coaches, William Klee and George "Gig" Thomas, tributes as real men and capable understudies.

Bridenbaugh concluded his talk by stressing the need for an enclosure of the playing field at Franklin High, the idea, said Bridenbaugh, being gleaned from Youngstown South and their perfect field.

High Type Athletics

Dr. C. C. Green, city superintendent of schools, followed Bridenbaugh on the speakers' program and promised the wholehearted support of his office and of the school board in the kind of athletics that New Castle High is giving to the city and to the fans. The brand of football played in this city would be welcomed to any community, was one of the high spots of Dr. Green's address.

Dr. Green said that football as he understands it, demands a certain amount of co-operation on the part of the boys, and that it was his belief that New Castle High was fortunate in this regard. He urged the boys to show just as much sportsmanship in life and their everyday routine as they do on the football gridiron, and that really the football field was excellent training for young men. Dr. Green stressed a plea for a high type of athletics. He paid a high tribute to Coach Bridenbaugh as one of the most capable high school coaches that he has ever known.

Veteran Official Is Speaker

D. W. Merriman of Beaver Falls, recognized throughout this section of the country as one of the most capable football and basketball officials on the central board, was the final speaker on the program. Mr. Merriman interspersed his talk with bits of humor and wit that went over big with the assemblage. He termed himself the "whistle blower" and made merry on this score. The "frigid-air quartet", as he termed Bridenbaugh, Gardner, Thomas and Klee, were high types of men in his regard and real leaders of high school boys and athletics.

Merriman in his past 20 years of football and basketball officiating has run into some mighty strange and some mighty funny incidents, and he told the boys of many of his experiences with so-called "hard guys" on the gridiron and basketball floor. He stressed the fact that the youngsters engaged in athletic competition should look at the game through two eyes instead of one. Football, said Merriman, is really a stepping-stone to life, and if you can learn to take hard knocks on the gridiron, then you will be prepared for what is to come in later years.

Praises New Castle

Learn to forget enmity, was one of the high spots in his address. The popular official said that he has made many temporary enemies in his work throughout a part of a century, but that he held no grudges against anyone. "The athletes are all my friends and I hold them in high regard. They are bound to have feelings and emotions at high spots in the games, but they are soon forgotten."

Mr. Merriman said that he has officiated at a few contests in New Castle and has found that New Castle has a real live group of sports and that his treatment has been first-class. "I will be glad to pass the word along to other officials that New Castle will always give you a fair and square deal." He complimented the New Castle High team on their success of the past year and had several nice things to say for Bridenbaugh.

The wives of the members of the school board and athletic council were present as special guests. The high school orchestra furnished the music for the occasion in a most pleasing manner.

The selection of a captain for the 1928 team was not announced at the banquet.

A school of aeronautics has been established in connection with a military academy in Portland, Ore.

WAMPUM VIADUCT CONTRACT AWARDED BY COMMISSIONERS

price which won the award is a good price for the county as it had been estimated that the viaduct would cost approximately $370,000.

Some Damages Likely.

The bid is for all the construction work of the viaduct and bridge, but does not include the damages which will accrue as a result of the confiscation of property necessary to change to location of the bridge from the site of the old one, north to a new location. The damages for property taken, both on the west and east side of the river must be paid by the county of Lawrence, Wayne township, and the Borough of Wampum.

The new bridge will be one of the longest in the county. It will have an approximate length of 4215 feet, including the viaduct. There will be a roadway 24 feet wide, with a sidewalk six feet wide.

The roadwork proper will have a paved width of 18 feet, and an entire width of 34 feet. The substructure will consist of piers with the necessary wood piling and retaining walls. The part spanning the Beaver river will be of steel construction, while the viaduct will be of reinforced concrete.

The bridge will extend from a point north of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie station east across the river and southeast to the Baltimore and Ohio crossing on the Ellwood-Wampum road.

The bridge will eliminate two of the most dangerous grade crossings in the county, as there will be overhead crossings over the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie and Baltimore and Ohio tracks. Several persons have been killed at each of these crossings. In one of the last accidents on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie crossing two men in a truck met their deaths.

The railroad companies will bear their proportionate share of the expense.

Work will start about the first of January.

Shooting Case Against Pastor Is Being Tried

Rev. L. J. Pollard Faces Charge As Result Of Hallowe'en Shooting

SHERIFF REYNOLDS TELLS OF ARREST

Rev. L. J. Pollard of West Washington street, who is charged with shooting and wounding Anthony Annarello on Holloween night, was placed on trial before Judge J. A. Chambers in Lawrence County Court.

Sheriff H. M. Reynolds, who was called to the scene of the shooting, testified that he went in company with City Detective M. J. Young and Charles Hillers, the latter not an officer.

When they arrived at the Pollard home they found a crowd assembled in the vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Pollard were in the house. It was between midnight and 1 a. m. In reply to a question as to what had happened Mr. Pollard stated that some boys had been bombarding his home with stones, and he had gone out and fired a revolver shot up in the air. He took the sheriff and others outside, and showed them where the stones had struck.

The house was covered with composition shingles and every place that a stone had struck it had knocked the slate off, leaving the black composition bare. Sheriff Reynolds said that there were a number of places where the stones had struck.

Inside, lying on a table the sheriff had found a 38 calibre Smith and Wesson revolver. One cartridge had been fired. There were four others in the gun. He also found a rifle in the house, but it had not been fired. As the sheriff found that a boy had been shot in the leg he told Pollard that he would have to come along. He was taken to police headquarters and later to the county jail. The sheriff had no warrant for Pollard's arrest but the next day an information was made and Pollard was released on bail.

M. J. Young and Charles Hillers gave practically the same version of their visit to the Pollard Home.

Dr. H. C. Harper testified that he had attended Annarello in the New Castle hospital. He had found that the bullet had entered near the knee cap and had lodged in the back, according to an X-Ray. The bullet was removed. It was about half an inch below the skin. Annarello was in the hospital for 21 days. The doctor stated that he had recovered from the wound and that he is able to use his leg without any serious effects.

The case is still on trial. This afternoon Rev. Pollard will give his side of the case.

Community Chest Totals $100,114

Fund Over The Top After All Adjustments Have Been Made

A regular routine business meeting of the board of directors of the New Castle Community Chest was held Monday evening in the parlors of the Y .W. C. A. with William F. Moody, president of the Chest organization, presiding.

The most unusual statement made at the meeting was that after making all adjustments and ironing out all duplication of subscriptions the total of the Community Cest drive remains at $100,114. The goal set was $100,000.

"A thing like this is very peculiar" declares Herbert Peairs of the General Organization company of Chicago who directed the successful drive. "Usually when the campaign is over the results are checked it is found that the total shrinks below the quota that is set. It is peculiarly gratifying to me that New Castle's fund still remains over the top."

Mr. Peairs also announces that he has moved his offices to the fifth floor of the Johnson building and can be found there any time.

Visitor Here Is Found Dead At Home Of Friend

Believed That Warren, O., Man May Have Been Drinking Poison Liquor

A colored man from Warren, O., whose name has not yet been secured, was found dead in bed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Taylor, rear of 1122 1-2 Sciota street, this morning. According to the story told by Mrs. Taylor to the police and coroner, the man came to her home yesterday with William Campbell of Warren. He was acquainted with her husband, but she did not know his name. The man said that he was not feeling very well and Mr. Taylor asked him to stay all night.

This morning James Field, a young man who was staying at the Taylor house over night, went into the colored man's room and found him dead. Nobody knew his name except Taylor, who was away at work and cannot be reached until he returns at three o'clock this afternoon. The man is said to have a wife, residing in Warren, O. He was about 35 years of age. The coroner was of the opinion that death may have been caused by drinking poison liquor. The body was taken to the Kelly morgue.

he was called there on September 27, 1927, at about six or 6:30 in the evening. He went down and found Whitlatch lying on the back porch bleeding. An examination showed a bullet hole in the man's right shoulder, one in his left shoulder and one in the left side toward the back.

He ordered the man to the hospital, but did not go with him. Asked if such wounds might cause death, he said they would. Dr. Hunt testified that he had asked Whitlatch what had happened to cause such a thing and Whitlatch had said: "My wife accused me of running around, but as true as there is a God I must meet, I am innocent."

Dr. Hunt picked up the gun which the woman had used, a short-barreled .32-caliber revolver, and turned it over to Detective C. C. Horner, who arrived on the scene shortly after the shooting. The doctor identified the gun.

City Detective M. J. Young was the last witness called before noon. He testified to receiving a call on the night of September 27, 1927, and of going to the Whitlatch home. Here he found Whitlatch on the porch and on the orders of Dr. Hunt had the man sent to the hospital. Mrs. Whitlatch was arrested.

Self-Defense?

From the trend of the cross-examination of the counsel for the defense, it is apparent that self-defense will enter into the case. They inquired rather particularly as to the size of Whitlatch, as to his build and apparent strength. The commonwealth is apparently building up the theory that here is a woman who had nagged her husband and then in a fit of uncontrollable rage had shot him to death.

Mrs. Whitlatch was more nervous in court this morning that she was on Monday. The strain of the trial has already begun to tell upon her, and she keeps biting her lips and toying nervously with her hands.

With her are three of her children. They are alert looking youngsters and apparently take more interest in the trial than their mother.

The noon recess followed the testimony of Detective M. J. Young.

Father Not In Much Doubt What His Christmas Sock Will Contain December 25

After Papa has flattened his purse in frantic efforts to see that each Christmas wish of each member of his family is appeased—and perhaps Uncle Bill's family and Cousin Robert's—what does he get out of the deal? A canvass of the merchants discloses some interesting facts.

Fact number one is that the canvass is hard to make for the reason that clerks are busy at this time: the Christmas rush has gotten off to a flying start, and everyone is buying for everyone else.

Fact number two discloses that Papa will get the usual things for Christmas. When he opens his packages Christmas morning, he will whistle with dismay as he pulls forth a tivd red and orange necktie—a purple pair of socks—or a few white handkerchiefs bordered in mauve. He might, perchance, be the recipient of a loud scarf, a pair of sleeve garters, or sleeve links. But socks and ties are the old standbys and socks or ties is what most of the men of the city will find greeting them when they wake up Christmas morning.

What Grandpa used to call galluses, what Papa called suspenders, and what Flamin' Freddie calls—galluses are also much in demand by the sweet young thing who buys for her intended. Strange color combinations prevail here: anything under the sun goes, and the more blatant the contrast, the better Freddie will like it.

And, after it is all over, and Papa has gotten his socks and sister her fur coat, perhaps Papa would like to know the origin of the saying to the effect that "It is the woman who pays, and pays, and pays."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINTS

Curiously enough we hear pork chops mentioned a good deal, but pork steak not so often. Yet the steaks are good eating and usually more economical than the chops. I will include them in the dinner menu below.

Pork Steaks
Sweet Potatoes and Apples
Cabbage and Pickle Salad
Chocolate Pudding

TODAY'S RECIPES

Sweet Potatoes with Apples—Cut boiled sweet potatoes in one-fourth-inch slices and put one cup of them in a buttered baking dish. Cover with three-fourths cup of pared and thinly sliced apples, sprinkle with one-fourth cup brown sugar, dot with two tablespoons of butter and sprinkle with one-half teaspoon of salt. Repeat the layers and bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

Chocolate Pudding—One teaspoon melted butter, one-half cup sugar, one egg, one-half cup sweet milk, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one square melted chocolate. Steam one hour. Use whipped cream for sauce.

Cabbage, Pickle Salad—Chop a good-sized sweet or sour pickle (as preferred) with cabbage, season with salt, sugar, a little mustard and pickle vinegar, or with your favorite dressing, and serve.

SUGGESTIONS

Properly Placed Lights

Proper placing of lights has mucn to do with saving our eyesight. Electric equipment makes it easy to put the lights in just the right place. Arrange the furniture in the rooms, in imagination, at least, before you decide on the lighting.

For use at the desk the light should fall over the right shoulder, so you are not in your own shadow. The light should be clear and powerful enough to illuminate perfectly, but not to glare and blaze in a way to make the eyes feel tired.

When a light is placed above, or on, the bed see that it shines softly and directly upon the book you may be reading, that it is well shaded with a regular reading shade, dark above and light underneath.

Seasoned Peas

A good way to prepare peas a little differently is as follows: Put one pint of peas through a sieve, add four tablespoons of milk, a few drops of onion juice, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper and the whites of three eggs, whipped stiff. Drop by tablespoons on hot greased griddle. Brown, then turn and brown other side. Serve at once with white sauce to which chopped sweet peppers have been added.

Dyeing Hint

When dissolving dye, either in cake or powder form, place it in a small cloth bag. In this way it saves the usual task of straining and no chance of small undissolved parts. It will also float, and when the desired shade has been obtained it can be easily removed.

Easily Handled

When having a number of guests to serve ice cream and cake, bake the cake in flat pans in one layer. Cut into squares, oblongs and diamonds and ice in different colored frostings. It will be much easier to serve—and to eat—than sliced layer cake.

Home Is Damaged By Kitchen Fire

Fire of unknown origin caused about $150 damage to the home of Frank Nicely at New Galilee. Flames broke out in the kitchen of the home, destroying a kitchen cabinet and damaging woodwork in the room. The fire was extinguished by neighbors, who formed a bucket brigade and the damage was confined to the lower part of the house. Mr. and Mrs. Nicely were sleeping in the house and escaped injury.

Free Calendars And Almanacs Grow Scarcer Year By Year: Few To Be Found This Month

Mister, do you have a calendar for 1928? If not, try and get one! It is a hard thing to do. Or try and get an almanac, one of those little things that advertise some sort of pills, tell the change of the moon, who your next wife will be, if your wife is true to you, interpreted with humor of the vintage of '76.

It is well nigh impossible. For the last four days the Cub has been searching diligently, going here and there, like Diogenes of old, but only hunting a free calendar.

Finally, two were found. One is given by a bank, giving in bold type the date, the changes of the moon and legal holidays. The other—well, it is printed in Italian. In the picture a bold blond Teutonic lass has raised her glass and is heartily "hoching" someone who is to her immediate left, but not included in the picture. From the size of the glass and the color of its contents it must be chianti—or perhaps some Bavarian ale. We do not know, as our experience is limited by M. Volstead.

And there are few almanacs—or rather there is one almanac. It purports to b a guide, philosopher and friend; it gives the phases of the moon, tells you what to do if your horse has colic, and insidiously suggests that the product it advertises is quite superior to all other products.

Yes, one merchant declares, the day of the free calendar is gone. People, it seems, are not satisfied with one calendar, but they want two or three: one for each room in the house, and if the merchant doled out ones with differing pictures on them, nothing would do but that the family had to have one of each.

December used to see calendar collectors, each one as rabid as the most noted collector of pots or books. They made it a matter of personal pride to have one of each merchant in their archives, and, when visited by another collector they would point with visible pride to a rare first of a feed store, or a signed grocery store, or a limited edition of a tobacconist.

Now, people, for the most part, buy their calendars, and everyone seems to be just as satisfied as before.

New Castle Man Is Under Arrest; Reckless Driving

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Dec. 13.—Officer P. W. Anderson of the state highway patrol preferred an information against George Madison, colored, of New Castle, before Justice of the Peace George T. Smith, charging him with reckless driving as the outcome of an automobile wreck on the Wampum road last night. Madison will be arraigned on the charge later.

Officer Anderson reports that the man drove out from a gasoline filling station north of Koppel on the Wampum road and struck the car of Ralph Earl Free of New Castle. The rear wheel of the car was struck and the car was turned over on its side, but fortunately no one was injured.

Reed Committee Meets To Plan New Campaign

Plan To Recount Ballots Cast In 1926 Senatorial Election In Pennsylvania

GIVEN ORDERS FOR "NEW TRIALS"

Vare And Smith Depart For Respective Homes Without Expressing Wishes

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. — The Reed "slush fund" committee met today to formulate a program for resuming the old inquiry into the Pennsylvania and Illinois senatorial elections of 1926.

With orders from the senate to give Senators-elect William S. Vare (R) of Pa., and Frank L. Smith, (R) of Ill., a "new trial", the committee was ready to summon witnesses and take evidence. It was left rather at sea, however, when both Smith and Vare departed for their respective homes without expressing any wishes about the inquiries.

Friends of the two senators-elect, who were told to stand outside by the senate, declared neither man desired to call new witnesses.

"What good will it do to call witnesses?" a friend of Vare inquired. "The committee has made up its mind and the senate has made up its mind. We're willing to end it without any further investigation."

The Reed committee nevertheless was considering the question of recounting the ballots cast in Vare's election, because of the contest filed against him by William B. Wilson, a Democrat. Most of these ballots were impounded by the federal courts of Pennsylvania, pending their seizure by the senate. Either the Reed committee or the senate committee on privileges and elections must take charge of them, and the senate itself may have to designate its choice.

GILFILLAN TO GET PERMIT

City Will Grant Permit According To Exact Terms Asked For

Councilmen in regular session today followed the suggestion of Solicitor R. M. White and will order the municipal engineering department, bureau of building, to issue a permit to J. Clyde Gilfillan, "exactly to the porvisions of the permit sought."

Recently the city lost a court tilt with Gilfillan who added to his lumber yard near Wilmington avenue.

White believes in forcing Gilfillan if possible, to obey the letter of the law relative to the permit sought and which refused, brought on a court suit which ended in the state supreme court.

"Average" Student Has Average Number Of Average "Dates"

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

DENTON, Tex., Dec. 13.—Among the 1,675 young women comprising the student body of the College of Industrial Arts, the largest exclusive co-ed school in the southwest, Miss Lillian Goodnight, of Abilene, Tex., has been selected as the "average student."

The college newspaper conducted a poll to discover the "average girl student," and Miss Goodnight was chosen on the first ballot.

She has gray-blue eyes, is five feet five inches in height, weighs 119 pounds and wears a No. 5 shoe.

Her hair is more blonde than brunette, but there is a certain shading in its lights and colors that defies placing it in either category.

An Dutdoor Girl

She does not participate in college athletics, but neither does the average girl. At home, she plays golf, rides horseback, swims, and drives an automobile.

Miss Goodnight enjoys books of poetry and magazines with a good mixture of stories; also light operas and motion picture shows.

She has made slightly better than average grades in school; has the average number of average "dates" with young men; carries on the "average" conversation of the "average" girl.

Her fellow students assert that she is just an "average co-ed"—so, there you are.

LILLIAN GOODNIGHT

CALL SPECIAL PANEL; FILL MURDER CASE JURY MONDAY NIGHT

her husband, William R. Whitlatch, on September 27, 1927, was completed.

It had taken from 10:00 o'clock Monday morning to complete the 12. The original panel of 80 was exhausted, and Sheriff H. M. Reynolds was ordered by Judge R. L. Hildebrand to subpoena 35 more talesmen from the body of the county and report at 7:30 o'clock. This was done, although it was 8:10 before court got under way.

Three Women On Jury

Three women will sit in judgment upon the action of Mrs. Whitlatch in killing her husband, and with the three women, nine men who were accepted. In point of years the jury is one of the oldest on a capital case here in some years. Only two of the jury seem to be under fifty years of age and this can truly be called a gray haired jury. All of them are married, both the commonwealth and the defense apparently preferring married people to bachelors or maiden ladies.

All during the selection of the jury, the defendant, Ina L. Whitlatch sat apparently unmoved, but under the almost death like mask of her face could be seen a suppressed nervousness. Now and then she toyed nervously with her hands, and what appears to be a calm, may be in reality a nervous calm before an emotional storm.

The following jurors were examined but either failed to qualify or were challenged peremptorily. The list includes both afternoon and evening sessions.

William H. Wood, Machinist, Ellwood. Challenged peremptorily by the defense.

Senate Prepares To Organize And Take Up Duties

Senate Republicans Almost Sure To Sweep Candidates Into Office

INSURGENT BLOC APPEARS QUIETED

All Talk Of Rebellion In Senate Ranks Fades As Olive Branch Is Extended

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The Republicans prepared today to make their titular control of the 70th Congress a matter of official record by formally organizing the Senate.

With peace restored between the insurgent camp and the regular organization, the Senate Republicans were certain to sweep their slate of candidates into office for another two years while retaining a majority control of all committees. The House Republicans, with an overwhelming majority, organized the lower branch of Congress last week, but the Senate organization was held up pending negotiations between regulars and insurgents.

The generous distribution of high committee assignments to insurgents and a pledge by administration leaders to secure votes for them on certain legislation ended all talk of rebellion. The insurgents seemed pretty well satisfied, for the first time in many years. Of the seven Republicans in their ranks, five will act as chairmen of committees. Of these, Senator Borah of Idaho was renamed to the foreign relations committee and Senator Norris of Nebraska to the judiciary. Three of the group were given new chairmanships. These were Howell of Nebraska, on claims; Nye of North Dakota, on public lands, and Frazier of North Dakota, on Indian affairs.

To Start Program

With the insurgent quieted, the Republicans expected to re-elect David Barry of Rhode Island as sergeant-at-arms and Col. Edwin F. Thayer of Indiana as secretary of the Senate. There were reports that Democrats planned to fight Barry's re-election on the ground he failed to carry out orders of the Reed slush committee last summer.

With this out of the way the Senate was prepared to buckle down to its long legislative program. The first of the appropriation bills, a $206,000,000 deficiency measure, topped the program. This bill threatened to kick up a ruckus between the big and little navy groups, due to an item appropriating $940,000 for elevating guns on the battleships Nevada and Oklahoma. The measure carried numerous appropriations contained in the deficiency bill which was killed last March by a Senate filibuster.

Administration leaders, however, expected little action on the major legislative program until after the Christmas holidays. The tax bill, farm relief legislation and a flood control measure are on the program, but all three must undergo committee consideration before reaching the floor.

Flapper Slayer To Face Grand Jury At January Session

(International News Service)

PAINESVILLE, O., Dec. 13.—Lake County Prosecutor Seth Paulin today announced that the case of Velma West, 21 year old self-confessed slayer of her husband Thomas Edward West at Perry one week ago, would go before the grand jury in its regular session the second week of January.

Paulin's announcement came at noon. At that hour there was no indication of habeas corpus proceedings on the part of defense attorneys, to obtain release of the youthful flapper-widow on bond.

The firemen answered the alarm, only to find that this mistake had been made by the woman and that there was no fire.

ASK SMITH SET INQUIRY DATE

Reed Committee Asks Senator Smith To Set New Date For Inquiry Into Election

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—The Reed slush fund committee today called upon Senator-Elect Frank L. Smith (R.) of Illinois to fix a date for the opening of a new inquiry into the 1926 Illinois senatorial primary.

The committee authorized Senator James A. Reed (D.) of Missouri, chairman, to send a telegram to Smith at his home in Dwight, Ills., suggesting a resumption of public hearings on December 16. Reed also wired that he could be represented by counsel, call witnesses and introduce evidence to defend himself against slush fund charges.

Banker Driven Insane By Bandits Hold-up Commits Double Crime

(International News Service)

PHENIX R. I., Dec. 13.—Believed to have been driven insane as the result of a holdup of his bank, George E. Sheldon, treasurer of the Phenix Trust company, shot and killed his wife today and then took his own life.

Coming into the kitchen where his wife was ironing Sheldon, according to police placed a pistol at his wife's neck and fired.

As her body fell to the floor, Sheldon shot himself and died almost instantly.

Books of the bank showed that Sheldon's accounts were in good shape. Sheldon and other bank officials were held up and the bank robbed of $26,000 in 1926 and since then friends and relatives said the bank treasurer had been in a highly nervous tate.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON Dec. 13.—Wildest political row in years developed in the senate this afternoon when Democratic leaders launched an attack on the Insurgent-Republican peace treaty by which the Progressives aligned themselves with the regular organization.

The Republican leadership was accused of "buying off" the insurgents through choice committee assignments while the insurgents opened fire on the Democrats by challenging them to produce a legislative program acceptable to the agricultural west. The debate raged furiously for an hour with a half dozen senators participating.

Damage was estimated between $60,000 and $100,000.

Fifty Three Stockings To Hang On Henry Home Mantle Piece For Santa To Fill This Year

Fifty-three stockings will be hung in the play room of the Margaret L. Henry home the night before Christmas, and fifty-three small boys and girls will toss fitfully on their beds, imagine they hear the silver hoofs of Dunder and Blitzen and Thrasher as they tinkle over the roof, announcing the arrival of St. Nicholas, the patron saint of all children.

For St. Nicholas is coming this year; there is not the faintest doubt of the fact. Already his committee of Kiwanians is busy getting ready for the annual party, which will be held this year Tuesday evening, December 27. And already the children are getting ready. Under the direction of Miss Ethel Thomas they are learning songs, so that they may be ready to greet Santa Claus Bill Wray of Mahoningtown when he brings his merrymakers to the home on the eventful evening.

In the play room will be the Christmas tree, and in the play room, a spot dear to the children at the home, the party will be given. Even in Pittsburgh Santa's representatives are going to help the children. The Santa committee of the Syria temple is sending to the home a box of candy for each child, and also the article that is most desired.

And their wants range from baby dolls to silk stockings; from drums to bicycles; from sleds to mouth organs. They are normal children, and they have all the wants of a normal child.

Another committee of the city is seeing to it that the children lack for nothing at the Christmas season. These people, each of whom will adopt a child for a day, are headed by Mrs. T. A. Patterson of Highland avenue. The child, it is planned, will be kept in the home, for there he can have more fun than any place else, but the people will get him what he wants.

The Fairy Godfather of the children, who never wants his name to be mentioned, will give the children their Christmas dinner. He always remembers his children each holiday.

The celebration, it is planned, will last throughout the entire Christmas week, ending only when the children have to go back to school again.

Miss Margaret Henry, who is in charge of the home, wishes people who wish to contribute decorations to the children's Christmas tree to get in touch with her immediately.

In Day's News

Major Gen. Mason M. Patrick, U. S. A., who retires today for age, leaves behind him a notable record of achievement in the development of the Army Air Corps. For six years Gen. Patrick has directed the activities of the flying officers and men of the army, and as he turns over the "controls" to his successor, Brig. Gen. James E. Fechet, he has the satisfaction of knowing that he has written one of the most important chapters in the story of American military aviation. For Gen. Patrick, though an Engineer officer, originally, has won a wide reputation for himself as Chief of the Army Air Corps, and through his solution of many difficult problems. During the World War he was Chief of the Air Service of the A. E. F. in France. He is a native of West Virginia and was graduated from West Point in 1886.

Awards Appeal To Poultry Showmen

Cash Awards, Gold Medals And Ribbons To Be Given At Poultry Show

With over $3,800 available in prize money, Lawrence county poultrymen will find it to their advantage to exhibit at the Twelfth Annual Poultry Show, to be held in connection with the State Farm Products Show at Harrisburg, January 17 to 20, 1928, says County Agent H. R. McCulloch.

Aside from the liberal cash awards, there will be gold medals donated by the State Farm Products Show Commission, together with ribbons, to be given to the exhibitor of the best male, best female and the best pen in the show.

The show this year will be open to all classes of poultry, including ornamental bantams, miscellaneous breeds and capons.

Entries close January 5, 1928. Premium lists can be obtained by writing to the Department of Agriculture, Harrisburg, or Division of Poultry Extension, the Pennsylvania State College, State College, Penna.

Eggs will again form a big part of the show. Several hundred dollars and six silver loving cups are offered to the winning exhibitors.

Last year there were 433 dozens of eggs displayed.

SCHOOL EXHIBIT SENT TO STATE

At the request of Mr. Kirby, director of art in the state department of education, Miss Emilie Salomon, supervisor of art in the New Castle schools, is sending a group of various types of art work done in the schools of the city to him for use in exhibits and on a series of lectures on the subject, which he is planning to give.

The exhibit sent from here as well as other schools of the state will be shown throughout the state as an example of the work that can be done along these lines.

The work done here has long been recognized as among the best produced in the state. Among the examples of work done here sent to Mr. Kirby by Miss Salomon, includes interior decoration, posters, designs and landscapes from all the schools of the city and Christmas cards made in the Junior and Senior High schools of the city.

Students See Film In Assembly Monday

A moving picture showing the dangers of alcoholic drinks was shown to the students of the Senior High school in an assembly in the school auditorium Monday. The Anti-Saloon League of western Pennsylvania sponsored the film.

At the conclusion of the three-reel picture M. E. Yeiser, field secretary of the league in this part of the state made an address on certain facts portrayed in the picture.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken, Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Not Like Medicine

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine. Perfected by the famous Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Sandy Creek Reservation

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

MAP SHOWING CHEYENNE-ARAPAHO RESERVATION IN 1861

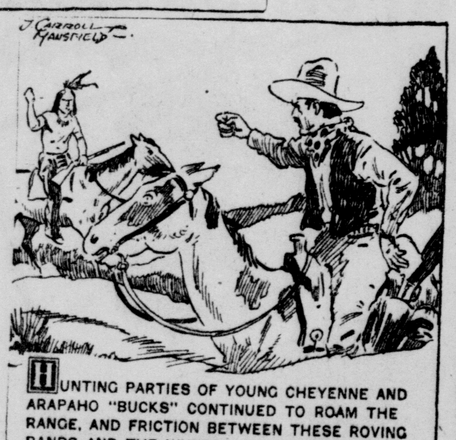

BY THE TREATY OF FORT LARAMIE, MADE IN 1851 BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND THE WESTERN INDIAN TRIBES, THE SOUTHERN CHEYENNES AND THE ARAPAHOES AGREED TO CONFINE THEMSELVES TO THE RANGE LYING EAST OF THE CONTINENTAL DIVIDE BETWEEN THE PLATTE AND ARKANSAS RIVERS. IN 1858, WHEN GOLD WAS DISCOVERED IN COLORADO, THIS REGION WAS OVERRUN BY WHITE PROSPECTORS.

THREE YEARS LATER THE CHEYENNE-ARAPAHOES AGREED, IN EXCHANGE FOR ANNUITIES, TO SETTLE PERMANENTLY ON THE SANDY CREEK RESERVATION, A TRACT OF LAND LYING BETWEEN SANDY CREEK AND THE ARKANSAS AND STRETCHING 90 MILES WESTWARD FROM THE JUNCTION OF THOSE STREAMS.

THE INDIANS SOON FOUND THAT THEY HAD MADE A BAD BARGAIN. THE SANDY CREEK REGION WAS DESOLATE AND UNFRIENDLY, AND ON THE BROAD RANGE TO THE NORTH THE EMIGRANT TRAINS SCARED OFF THE BUFFALO.

HUNTING PARTIES OF YOUNG CHEYENNE AND ARAPAHO "BUCKS" CONTINUED TO ROAM THE RANGE, AND FRICTION BETWEEN THESE ROVING BANDS AND THE WHITES WAS INEVITABLE. HOWEVER, IT WAS THREE YEARS BEFORE SERIOUS TROUBLE OCCURRED.

Tommy Loughran Beats Slattery

Wins Light-Heavyweight Championship In New York Fight

VERDICT FINELY DRAWN, WALSH SAYS

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Tommy Loughran light heavyweight champion by one man's say-so, and Jimmy Slattery perfectly good holder of the title by another's met last night at Madison Square Garden, just as though anybody cared and the funny thing about that was that 11,000 people did.

They were all that were there when a referee and two judges said that Loughran had won at the end of 15 rounds and their comments on the decision were highly edifying, not to say vociferous. They liked what they saw but apparently they didn't like what they heard. Personally the writer regarded the verdict as a bit finely drawn about the eyelids but at that, Loughran won, if anybody did. Certainly the way I saw it Loughran didn't lose.

However, that is neither here nor there because when the boys once call them they stay called and no defeated boxer ever cashed a nickel on the dear old ovation the sympathtic souls tender him as he leaves the enclosure, so Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia is today the champion light-heavyweight of the world, including that part which is sponsored by the National Boxing association. I am constrained to say that I have seen worse champions, past and present.

Loughran Looks Good.

Loughran looked the part of a first class fighting man so did Slattery, surprisingly so in view of James' disconcerting fold-up several years ago. It just happened that Thomas seemed to hit the tape first. Although just lasting to the wire as they say at Churchill Downs. This was another of the surprises of the occasion, the intelligentsia having decided in advance that James was just a quarter horse and couldn't possibly go a distance of ground.

But in the stretch, it was Slattery who was coming and Loughran going and just because they almost passed each other on the way, the Luttonhole makers went yammering into the night.

It was Loughran's speed in the middle of the fight that got him the nod. Slattery was clearly ahead at the end of ten rounds, having weathered some heavy punching to the head in the early rounds and then coming along to take the play away from his man by left-handing him out of position. z

The coming session of the Rhode Island legislature is expected to take action that will provide that state with the only state-controlled airport in the United States.

KILLED BY STREET CAR

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 13.—Friends of Max Katz, 38, often referred to him as "the man with nine lives," because of his many lucky escapes from death, but today he is dead.

He walked into the path of a street car in Natrona and was killed. Katz was rescued several times from the Allegheny river when death seemed imminent, once after his small boat had been washed over Springdale dam.

SORDS POINTS

If Tris Quits, Three of Greatest Will Be Out

By JACK SORDS

If Tris Speaker is to step out of the American League next year, and that seems possible, the organization will be minus three players who, for years, have been among the most colorful stars the game has ever produced. He will join Ty Cobb and Walter Johnson who have both left marks that others will shoot at for many moons to come.

Cobb has set more records than any other player in the game. His record as a batter is one that will not soon be equalled. Aside from his first year with Detroit, 1905, when he hit .240, the veteran has never fallen below the .300 mark, and there is hardly a batting record that he does not hold. He is truly the greatest veteran of them all.

Johnson spent his entire career with the Washington Senators and also leaves many records. And the big fellow did not always have the team behind him that other pitchers had. Always a thorough clean sportsman, he was one of the most respected men in the game.

Now if Speaker is to make it a threesome it will sure be unusual to have three of the game's greatest stepping out at the same time. It is safe to predict that it will be many years before the holes left by their departure will be filled.

W's In Football

By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1927, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Who are the most famous "W's" in football history? There is "Pop" Warner, for one, for this famous old Cornell player and master-strategist among the coaches deserves first place in any list. In the above illustration, you will notice "Pop" intently watching the running technique of "Gibby" Welch, All-American half-back from Pittsburgh, the university "Pop" used to coach before going to Stanford. "Pop" is especially interested in "Gibby's" style, as one of his chief worries in the coming New Year's Day game between Stanford and Pittsburgh is how to stop this Panther Phantom once he gets loose.

Another old-timer is Harold Weekes, chosen on Walter Camp's 1901 All-American team. He was the most spectacular player that ever went to Columbia, and specialized in a flying hurdle over the line of scrimmage. "Boss" Weeks, of Michigan, was one of the greatest of quarter-backs, especially for fight and inspiration.

It would be a simple matter to select an All-W-football team from the earliest days of football to the present time. For ends you might have Sam White, of Princeton, and Wagner, of Pittsburgh; for tackles, West, of Colgate, and Ed. Weir, of Nebraska, and for guards, Welch, of Colgate, and Wharton, of Penn; for center, there is Adam Walsh of Notre Dame, and for quarter-back "Boss" Weeks, of Michigan. But how are you going to choose only three backs from such a marvelous array as George Wilson, of Washington; Harry Wilson, of Penn State and the Army; Doug Wyckoff, of Georgia Tech; Harold Weekes, of Columbia; "Gibby" Welch of Pittsburgh, Percy Wendell of Harvard,—oh what's the use! And here we've left out such sterling linemen as "Red" Weaver of Centre; Wheelock, of Carlisle; Weller, of Nebraska; Wickhorst, of the Navy; Webster, of Yale; and the Woodruffs of Penn and Yale!

Feg Murray Says—

Suggestion for any expert's All-American team: Half-back Bones, of Emory and Henry. Another rattling good player is Ford, of Texas Mines.

Savoia Quintet To Play Croton

The Casa Savoia quintet, will battle the Croton M. E. Church League team tonight, at 8:15, o'clock at the House of Savoia floor. The Savoia Juniors will play the preliminary with the Spinelli Billiards. The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Tony Tino has been secured to referee the games tonight. The Savoia quintet will meet the Speece Contractors of Youngstown, Ohio, on the local court on Friday night.

HARRY BLITMAN TO FIGHT DATTO

Weight Favors Blitman But Filipino Has Strong Punch

YOUNGSTOWN, Dec. 13.—After stewing around for several hours and learning the misery that the fighter goes thru when making weight, Promoter Al Zill of Youngstown, Ohio, has finally secured the signatures of the managers of Johnny Datto and Harry Blitman to a contract to battle at the Rayen-Wood Auditorium on December 14.

Kilbane held out for 126 while Hoff wanted 128 as the low point and Zill didn't care what they weighed as long as he could get them in there, and to date Zill is the only one of the five principals involved who has lost any weight. He signed them at the compromise weight of 127 and a half, but lost the rotundity of his own portly figure when he did that little thing.

Has Had 30 Fights

When everything is said and done with and the records of this fellow Datto are scanned, one can't blame the Philadelphia Impressarie for demanding the extra poundage. That weight will favor Blitman, as Harry is growing and will soon be a full fledged lightweight, while Datto can and will make 122 for any of them.

Some of the boys that Datto has stopped or better in career as a professional fighter are: Johnny Ortego, Johnny Trambitas, Herbie Schaefer, Packy O'Gatty, Tommy Noble, Frankie Bob, Sailor Garcia and Jack Duffy are a few of his K. O. victims.

Some of the real good boys that the Spick has outfought are: Tommy O'Brien, Frankie Munroe, Don Davis, Tommy Carter, Johnny Drew, Babe Herman, Jack Silvers, Tommy Cello, Mushy Callahan, Chicks Suggs and Billy Wallace.

Grovers To Open Floor Season At Butler Wednesday

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 13.—Coach Bob Thorn of the Grove City College basketball team has chosen the line-up which will open the 1927-28 season next Wednesday on the Butler Y. M. C. A. floor. He has placed Gurney and Angelo at the forwards, Captain Gillium at center, Rankin and Ryon at the guards. The last four players named were members of the crimson squad of last season. Gurney is a product of Edgewood High school.

Other players who will make the trip to Butler are Pryor and Burke, forwards, Reeves, center; Bair and Rush, guards. Three of the lads who will make the first trip of the season were members of the Grove City football eleven during the past season. Angelo played halfback, Rankin an end and Reeves, guard. They are just as good on the basketball court as on the football field.

Grove City High To Play Locals Here Thursday

New Castle High Floor Team To Open Season Thursday Night

TEAM LINE-UP IS MUCH IN DOUBT

The New Castle High basketball team will open their 1927-28 season Thursday night at the Senior High school gym by meeting Grove City High, it was announced by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today. The game will start at eight o'clock.

The game with Grove City was originally set for Friday night of this week, but owing to a concert or entertainment at the Senior High school the date was switched to Thursday night.

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh is at a loss to know just what five men will start the Grove City game as the varsity. There are about 15 candidates out for positions this year, and the task of selecting the regulars is no easy one.

There are but two members of the W. P. I. A. L. championship team about sure of berths this year, Captain Paul Reider, a forward, and Tony Ostrosky, a guard. Both men were given high ranking last season for their brilliant work and it is going to take some mighty fine playing to keep them on the bench. The others who are showing up well are Sillman, Johnson, Cuba, Alexander, Richards, Kulich and E. Bauman.

When New Castle High takes the floor for their initial game of the year two familiar faces will be missing from the team that fought its way to the state semi-finals, Bruce Franklin, a forward, and Captain Baldy McGrath.

The red and black tossers are working out daily in the high school gym and will be in the best of condition for the inaugural battle of the year.

Governor Paulen of Kansas purposes to use an airplane in making his official inspection tour of state institutions next spring.

"The best brakes ever developed for a motor car"—

are on the Reo Flying Cloud—Try them out

"Every automobile manufacturer and every automobile engineer . . . who has subjected Lockheed Internal Hydraulic Four-Wheel Brakes to the most severe competitive tests, acclaims them the best brakes ever developed for a motor car."

THE HYDRAULIC BRAKE CO.
Automobile Topics, October 1, 1927.

The Reo Flying Cloud was the first car to have these brakes.

It appeared in January, 1927. We said then that we thought these were the best brakes any car, regardless of price, ever had.

Now comes the Hydraulic Brake Company, which makes other types of brakes than the Internal Hydraulic, but they know, as engineers know, which are the better.

They make tens of thousands more sets of external hydraulic brakes than they do of these internal hydraulics, yet they endorse the latter as the "best."

More costly? Yes. But Reo policy is to give the best regardless of cost.

But try them yourself

The best proof of this claim to the "world's best brakes" is a test that you make for yourself. So we hope you will ask for a demonstration. We want you to take a Flying Cloud out on slippery, greasy roads or streets. We want you to learn for yourself how swiftly, yet gently, they halt you in a straight line when you must STOP.

Be sure to try them out.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.Sharp advances in the motor and specialty stocks featured the early trading in the stock market today. Buying demand for the well-known motor shares swept into the market in the first hour, and trading in that department was unusually heavy. The sky-scraping specialties were again ready to perform, Wright Aero and Steel Foundries jumping 4 points each. United States Steel game another exhibition of its market strength by pushing upward to 146½.

The brilliant successes won by the bullish pools since the end of last week's reaction, and the complete defeat of the bears have encouraged wide participation in the market by the small traders in the outside speculative centers. The greater part of this buying demand has been for the better grade of industrial stocks like American Can and United States Steel, though the pools in the specialties have taken the opportunity to make their favorites "dance on the tape" with every appearance of natural strength.

Lindbergh Carries Army Rifles In Case Of Forced Landing

Army Rifles Nestle In Cockpit Beside Famous Flier As He Takes Air Today

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. — An army rifle nestled in the cockpit beside Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today when he pointed the nose of his trans-ocean airplane southwestward for the 2000-mile flight to Mexico City.

Almost half of Lindbergh's flight will be over Mexican territory, and there is always the possibility of a forced landing in the desolate and bandit-infested stretches of Northern Mexico.

His only other equipment was two army canteens of water, an emergency ration kit, and two life preservers, which he sat upon.

He carried no parachute.

Coolidge Has Not Given Approval To Big Naval Program

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—President Coolidge has not yet given definite approval to the naval construction program worked out by the general board, calling for the expenditure of a billion dollars over a period of five years to bring the navy up to parity with the British, it was announced today at the White House.

The general board's program contemplated the construction of 26 cruisers, three airplane carriers and substantial additions to the submarine and destroyer leader complements.

President Coolidge told callers today after conferring with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and Rear Admiral Hilary Jones that the navy was still considering the details of the construction program and that no final decision has been made.

President Tells Of Penn State's Aims

Hetzel Speaks For Bond Issue Before Philadelphia Alumni

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 13. — Duties confronting the Pennsylvania State College in meeting the annually increasing demand for the accommodation of students were outlined by President Ralph Dorn Hetzel when he addressed the members of the Philadelphia and New York City Alumni clubs a few days ago.

Penn State is not alone in the necessity of curtailing its enrollment each year because of limited facilities and finances, Dr. Hetzel stated. Every large college and university in the United States is faced with the problem. Progress in science and need for trained leaders in industry and business have brought about a revolution in modern education.

Alumni support of the college activities was praised by President Hetzel, and among the future opportunities for their aid he cited the proposed $8,000,000 bond issue amendment, which is to be voted on by the citizens of the commonwealth next November. Such a fund would provide new buildings for the college and enable it to fulfill more educational and research demands, and eventually enable it to enroll all qualified applicants.

The sorrow and poverty that exists even in the most prosperous times is well known to all. The aged in need the widow with helpless, hungry little children, the appeal of those who have been overtaken with sickness and are in financial distress.

It is for such as these that your aid is solicited to furnish them with a Christmas dinner in their own home on Christmas day.

The Salvation Army not only takes care of them at Christmas time but our trained workers in sunshine or rain, winter or summer, night or day are ever on the go providing food for the hungry, raiment for the poorly clad, shelter for the homeless and in other ways making life's burden lighter by these ministrations.

A generous response at this time will enable us to do a greater work than ever before.

WARD STILL AIDS WAIF

Although she sells fruit to pay her rent, and often has little funds, Mrs. Charlotte Amelia Cook of Islington, the first child to be adopted by the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, of England, still is adopting waifs. She has never forgotten that the society saved her, when a little girl, from a jealous stepmother who had cruelly burned her with a red-hot poker. Although she has often not known where her next meal was coming from she has been taking waifs from the streets and adopting them. At one time she was caring for seven babes at once. She refuses all payment for her services to the tots, explaining that she did it as a labor of love to repay the debt she owed the society.

Curtis Possible Darkhorse Seen At Convention

Curtis Supporters See Fine Chance For Kansas Senator Slipping In

PREDICT DEADLOCK ON "BIG THREE"

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—If the Republican convention at Kansas City next June gets itself knotted up in a deadlock, as a number of shrewd politicians believe it may, the current tip in Washington is: "Look out for Curtis."

While the candidacies of Herbert Hoover, Charles G. Dawes and Frank O. Lowden are receiving most of the attention and the publicity at this early stage of the pre-convention game, the backers of the Kansas senator are saying little and sawing quite a lot of wood. Without and blaring of trumpets, they are assidously making a collection of "secondary choice" promises against the time when—and if—the convention gets to the deadlock point.

The Harding managers at Chicago in 1920 pursued a course of strategy along the same broad lines with historic results.

The strategy and the hopes of the Curtis people are predicated almost entirely upon the possibility of the convention deadlocking over the candidacies of Hoover, Dawes, Lowden and a few favorite sons. Frankly recognizing that the senate leaders cannot hope to compete with the "big three" in popular appeal, the Kansan's backers have gone methodically about the business of obtaining secondary support wherever possible, and they have had success enough to date to make them extremely optimistic.

In this effort, they have been aided enormously by the personal popularity of "Charley" Curtis. The Kansan may not be so well known to the country at large, but as one cynic put it "the people don't make nominees, the politicians make 'em". And Senator Curtis is widely known and liked by the politicians, and by his Republican colleagues in the senate, all of whom will be in the Kansas City convention, many of them at the head of their respective delegations.

Curtis is being quietly presented to "the people who make nominees" as "the ideal compromise." His record is virtually unassailable. He is, his friends say the one Republican who could be accepted by the hard-boiled Republican orthodoxy of the east as well as by the Insurgent element of the grain belt from whence he comes. He voted for the McNary-Haugen bill, but only after his own agricultural plan, incorporated in the Curtis-Aswell bill, was voted down last session. He has been in the senate for twenty years as a regular from a Progressive and sometimes Insurgent state—a rare tribute to his political sagacity and shrewdness.

The Curtis backers have been encouraged too, by the fact that the powerful eastern states have no candidate and apparently are in a quandary as to where to go. The eastern leaders are admittedly lukewarm on Hoover and Lowden, and they are not especially enamored of Dawes, at least, at this stage of the game. The large states like New York and Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Massachusetts are marking time and surveying the field.

If they can be "sold" on Curtis, it makes him a front-rank contender. If not, then the promise of secondary support leaves him in an ideal position for consideration as a compromise should the convention deadlock.

That, in short, is the present strategy of the Curtis campaign—the only one that is frankly in the open at this time. Senator Curtis announced his candidacy long before President Coolidge made his famous amplification. He made the announcement, moreover, soon after getting off the Mayflower where he had spent a weekend with Mr. Coolidge. The assumption is that he would not have made the announcement had he not been assured that his candidacy was favorably regarded by the Coolidge administration.

The Curtis backers freely admit their shot is a long one. But they point out that long shots can and do romp home sometimes—to wit: in 1920.

Baseball Moguls Enter Second Day Of Discussions

Pittsburgh Pirates Said To Be After Indianapolis Pitcher In Big Sale

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—The annual winter gathering of the baseball clans swings into its second day this afternoon with the meeting of the National League as the chief event on the program. A board of directors was to be elected and the annual financial report and other routine matters were to be taken up.

Although managers and magnates have created a bullish trading market in the various hotel lobbies, no swaps have yet been engineered. While the steering committee was steering a safe and sane course behind closed doors, the managers steered the conversation away from proposed trades with equal caution.

Out of the maze of the many rumors around the hotel came the definite announcement by Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pirates, that he was negotiating the sale of Emil Yde, left-handed twirler, and Roy Spencer, reserve catcher, to Indianapolis of the American Association. Dreyfuss would comment no further on this sale, but it was indicated, that the Buccanners were seeking an Indianapolis player in exchange.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

You can't roam around far when your transportation happens to be a chair which is harder than a day in jail, and as uncomfortable as a hang nail and that covers yesterday's roaming. Just sitting, sitting, sitting, listening to jurors get examined up in the court house.

The usual Christmas murder case is on trial and thus far not a person mixed up as the chief factor in such a case has had the chance to say, "there ain't no Santa Claus." There always has been.

They ran out of jurors at 6 o'clock and Sheriff Reynolds had to trek out and get 35 more. The sheriff was a bit enthusiastic about his assignment. He had a deer dinner waiting for him but he had to go anyway.

To his credit it can be said that he brought back 35 good looking jurors. Most any 12 of them would make a good jury for any case.

The case really gets under way today and by the time you are reading this the corpus delecti will have been proved. A corpus delecti is what happens when a woman trains a piece of field artillery on her husband and gets nervous in the trigger finger.

Over in court room No. 2 Judge Chambers got away to his first criminal case yesterday. With two courts going now, a person can get justice pretty quickly in Lawrence county. Too quickly perhaps as for some of the boys.

Got an invitation to a fish fry down in Ellwood City on Friday night. Burton Bell and his Republican club are holding it, and also a Republican rally. The big rally will be rallying around a couple of baked fish and I always did like rallies.

That fixes the week up just nicely. The King's Henchman on Wednesday night, the Kiwanis ladies' night on Thursday night, the Ellwood fish fry on Friday night and a hot dog and a cup of coffee on Saturday night.

The name of coffee is derived from the city of Kaffa, in Africa.

Coal Conference Opens In Capital, Seek For Peace

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—With a full representation of the United Mine Workers and only a handful of operators present, Secretary of Labor Davis' coal parley got under way here today.

The refusal of operations in Central and Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and Northern West Virginia to participate threw a wet blanket on the proceedings and little hope was held out that any real peace would be obtained.

John L. Lewis, president, and Philip Murray, vice president, respectively, of the United Mine Workers, led the union forces. Davis' refused to give out a list of the operators present.
